Ford opposed to tax cut extension without ceiling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Failure to extend 1975 tax cuts would have minimal economic impact, Treasury Sec. William Simon said Tuesday, and President Ford would prefer that to legislation not carrying his $395 billion spending ceiling.

"The President, in the absence of an expenditure ceiling, is opposed to a tax cut," Simon told the Senate Finance Committee.

Sen. Russell Long, D-La., brushed aside White House veto threats and warned Simon not to "play chicken" with Congress because "I don't think you ought to challenge somebody to a game of chicken when you're gonna be the chicken.

"EITHER HE'S (Ford) gonna have to be the chicken or the nation is going to suffer."

Morning-long hearings before Long's Senate Finance Committee indicated compromise is highly unlikely, and the Democratic-controlled Congress will engage in a last-minute veto fight with Ford. Democrats say they will not arbitrarily place a ceiling on a budget they have not seen.

Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., asked Simon how he responded to charges that Ford's plan was politically motivated — tax cuts now, before the November election, with a spending ceiling effective Oct. 1 that would not be felt until after the election.

Simon replied that the two ideas were conceived separately, and "I do not think in political terms."

COMMITTEE Democrats appeared to be leaning toward a simple six-month extension of 1975 tax cuts, plus the special earned income credit or "work bonus" which pays up to $400 per year to the working poor.

Long officially laid aside until next year the House-passed tax bill, which contains hundreds of pages of "reform" measures in addition to extension of tax cuts.

Several Democrats told Simon there was no chance the spending ceiling would be approved, and that Ford should accept a six-month extension as a compromise. This would force Congress to deal with taxes again early next year after Ford has presented his budget, when it would be more logical to debate a spending ceiling.

Simon firmly rejected any compromise, saying Ford is not worried about the economic effect of allowing taxes to rise Jan. 1, when 1975's recession-fighting cuts expire. Expiration would have only "a small economic impact," he said.

SEN. EDWARD M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said he agreed that most reform items in the House bill be put off until next year, but urged the committee to attach two measures to the tax cut bill:

- An increase in the minimum tax on tax-free preference income.
- A provision to tax capital gains at death. Presently, heirs pay no tax on the amount an estate increased in value during the deceased's lifetime.

'Keep traffic pattern'

Panel favors mall for downtown area

The Arlington Heights subcommittee on central business district improvements has recommended that a shoppers' pedestrian mall be constructed and present traffic patterns be retained downtown.

The committee, which is reviewing possibilities for renovating the central business district, also agreed Tuesday night to recommend that parking garages should be located along Northwest Highway rather than on the perimeter of the business district.

Committee chairman William Griffith will present both recommendations Thursday to the village board's Blue Ribbon Committee on parking.

"I DON'T THINK we should try to disorient the traffic flow we have had for a hundred years, but instead should work with the scheme we have," said Myles Gordon, a committee member. "Let's start from the core and spread out."

The committee also agreed that efforts should be made to connect the business districts that are separated by Northwest Highway and the Chicago & Northwestern Ry. tracks. Surveys show that 24,000 vehicles travel through the business district daily on Northwest Highway, said Village Planner Joseph Kesler.

Suggestions for pedestrian walkways ranged from underpasses and overpasses to the construction of multistoried garages on each side of the two barriers with a ramp being used to connect the two garages.

"We need to build a parking garage as high as we have to and start a mall-type operation here," said Gordon. "Then we will get developers putting in office buildings. Adequate parking for the developers is what is needed for this concept to work."

KESLER HAS been directed to come up with at least three alternative shopping mall plans within 30 days.

Committee members agreed that it is important to begin making improvements in the downtown business district soon.

"We've got to implement something," said Gordon. "We can't just plan and plan and plan. Let's take the first step."

A sketch of a possible demonstration mall to be located on Campbell Street, between Vail and Dunton streets, was presented by Kesler but was not discussed.

The sketch included plans for globe lights, a three-level pool, an illuminated water fountain, a flower bed, seating areas, a playground and a small stage to be located in the middle of the street.

$30,000 loss in home fire

About $30,000 damage was caused Tuesday night when fire engulfed a one-story frame house at 2522 Greenwood Ct., Arlington Heights.

Fire Chief John Hayden said the fire apparently started in the basement about 8:35 p.m. and spread to the upper floor, gutting four rooms in the rear section of the house. The cause of the blaze was under investigation.

Firefighters wearing air packs extinguished the flames in about 20 minutes, Hayden said. Fire hoses had to be stretched about a quarter mile from the nearest fire hydrant on Rand Road to the fire scene.

Neighbors said the Sabatino Ognibene family, who lived in the house, was not at home at the time of the fire. They said Mrs. Ognibene was visiting her husband at a nearby hospital where he was recuperating from a heart attack. No injuries were reported in the fire.

Parks officials defend contribution to program

Allegations that the Arlington Heights Park District is not carrying its financial share of the counselor-in-the-parks program met with strong reaction Tuesday night from park commissioners.

The commissioners said the district's contributions toward the administration of the program are substantial, although often difficult to pinpoint or place a dollar amount upon.

The program, in effect for the past three summers, places professional counselors or teachers in the six major parks to help curb vandalism and rowdyism.

THE VILLAGE provides funding for the personnel, while the parks administer the program. Last year, the village allocated $19,960 and spent $16,000 on the program.

The village administration prepared a position paper calling for the parks to gradually assume the cost of the personnel.

Comr. Katy Graham said, "Neither the village board, nor anyone else, can say we aren't shouldering a share of the burden . . . the administrative expenses are expensive."

Park Board Pres. Lloyd Meyer said the administration is time consuming and the actual cost is hard to figure. The park's responsibilities include hiring and supervision of the counselors, establishing job descriptions and establishing programs for the youths.

MEYER SAID the administrative tasks should be offered to the village.

"I'm sure they'd turn it down," he said.

Ronald Dodd, park superintendant of recreation, said, "I'm sure they don't have the manpower or the time to do it."

Dodd and Comr. Jacqueline Gruenewald were directed to draw up the park's proposal for the program in time for village budget hearings scheduled for mid-January.

THE PARK'S proposal is to include

5-year sentence for extortion

Fulle resigns county board seat

by AL MESSERSCHMIDT

Comr. Floyd Fulle resigned from the Cook County Board Tuesday after being sentenced to five years in federal prison for extorting an estimated $69,000 from two Northwest suburban apartment builders.

Fulle, 54, of 666 Laurel, Des Plaines, announced his resignation after a 17-minute sentencing hearing before U.S. District Court Judge Bernard M. Decker.

The former chairman of the Cook County Republican Central Committee was indicted Feb. 13 and convicted Oct. 31 of extortion, perjury and income tax fraud after a two-week jury trial in Decker's court.

DECKER, who also ordered Fulle to pay the cost of the trial, refused Tuesday to order a new trial or to set aside the jury decision which was handed down Oct. 31 after less than four hours of deliberation.

Fulle, who did not testify during the trial, showed little emotion as he stood before Decker. His wife, Patricia, a key defense witness, watched the sentencing from the third row of spectator seats.

In a brief, pre-sentence statement, Fulle told Decker, "I am not guilty of the charges the government brought against me.

"That verdict I intend to challenge," Fulle said in a firm voice.

"Your honor, I sat quietly in this court in the two-week trial so that I would not upset the dignity and decorum of the court," he said. "The shock of the verdict (was) unbelievable. I don't understand how the jury reached the verdict."

"IT IS MY FERVENT hope that I will be vindicated . . . that you, sir, will be sitting on that bench — healthy — to enjoy that vindication with me," Fulle said.

Decker listened, with hands crossed under his chin, as Fulle stood at the attorney's podium. When Fulle stopped, Decker turned to Assistant U.S. Atty. Anton Valukas.

"Floyd Fulle was a trusted, prominent public official. What he did was engage in the more serious of offenses. He use his position . . . for his own personal grandisement," said Valukas.

Valukas asked Decker to fine Fulle and to order a "jail sentence. The only good (of a jail sentence) . . . is that they (public officials) see that those who are caught will be dealt with fairly and will be punished."

Before announcing the sentence, Decker talked of the trial and sentencing of former Chicago Ald. Thomas Keane last year.

"I HONESTLY hoped that this parade would be stopped (with Keane's mail fraud conviction)," Decker said. "It's apparent that the parade has not stopped . . . that political corruption is not confined to any political party or geographic area."

Decker ordered Keane, a Democrat and Mayor Richard J. Daley's City Council floor leader, to serve five years in prison, the same sentence Fulle received Tuesday.

Fulle, a county board member since 1964, is the highest ranking Chicago-area Republican convicted of political corruption after indictment by former U.S. Atty. James R. Thompson.

Fulle was convicted of seven counts of tax fraud, extortion and perjury. Each of the perjury and extortion counts drew a five-year sentence, and the two tax charges drew maximum three-year sentences. The sentences will be served concurrently.

Although Decker did not fine Fulle, Valukas said the cost of the trial, which Fulle must pay, will be "substantial." The cost of sequestering the

Games center veto overridden

Rolling Meadows aldermen overrode Mayor Roland Meyer's veto of an ordinance permitting the licensing of coin-operated games centers in the city. Despite warnings from several clergymen that the council's action would corrupt the city's youths and jeopardize their aldermanic posts, the council overrode the veto by a 9-to-1 vote. It was Meyer's third veto this year on the games center issue.

Meigs plane remains lost

Coast Guard ships and helicopters searched a 20-square-mile area of Lake Michigan just seaward of Chicago's Meigs field without success Tuesday for a two-engine private plane missing since Monday apparently with four members of a Pennsylvania family aboard. "We didn't even find a slick," a Coast Guard duty officer said. The search, which covered an area 10 miles seaward of the lakefront airport and 10 miles on either side, was suspended at sunset. The pilot, Jack S. Copperman, 36, a Pittsburgh businessman, took off in his Beechcraft Bonanza at 2:56 p.m. Monday in snow and fog bound for Allegheny County Airport near Pittsburgh. Seconds later he radioed the Meigs tower: "Mayday! Mayday! I'm going down." The three passengers were believed to be Copperman's wife Bonnie, 34, and their children, Avery, 15, and Karla, 12. But authorities in Chicago were unable to say for certain they were aboard. Poor visibility and five inches of snow hampered the search by Coast Guard, fire department and police authorities. Officials said humans could survive for only five minutes in Lake Michigan's 39-degree temperature unless they were equipped with special survival gear.

LaFleur won't run again

A member of the Illinois General Assembly, Leo LaFleur, R-Bloomingdale, has announced he will not be a candidate for reelection next year. LaFleur's announcement came as township committeemen in the 2nd Legislative District announced that State Rep. Richard Friedland, R-South Elgin and Duane G. Walter of DuPage County had been endorsed to seek the GOP nomination for the seats in the Illinois House. LaFleur said he was retiring because of personal reasons. He was first elected to the General Assembly in 1972 and narrowly won reelection in 1974. Walter has been active in a number of agricultural projects in the county. He also is the vice chairman of the Winfield Township Republican Organization. Roger Stanly, the Hanover Township Republican Committeeman, has announced he will also seek the GOP nomination for the house from the 2nd District.

Property taxes hiked in MSD

Property taxes for the Metropolitan Sanitary District will increase by 10 cents per $100 assessed value next year.

The tax increase, which was authorized by the Illinois General Assembly, will bring the district's total tax rate to 48.3 cents per $100 assessed value. The 1975 tax rate was 38 cents per $100.

The increase will pay for a total MSD budget of $511.8 million, up about 25 per cent from last year's $401.3 million budget.

Included in the budget are funds for the O'Hare Water Reclamation Plant planned for Des Plaines. The plant has been opposed by Des Plaines residents. A court case which could force the MSD to comply with the city health ordinance in construction of the plant is currently before the Illinois Supreme Court. Funds for the O'Hare plant had been budgeted last year, but because construction has not begun, the funds have been budgeted again this year.

MSD officials said increases in the budget have also been caused by rising costs of operating sewage treatment plants and by federal requirements calling for larger amounts of local money before federal grants are available.

SAM HILL, 29, of Arlington Heights is an executive with an office that's just a little bit different. It's the cockpit of a twin-engine Turbo Commander he flies for Allied Mills, a Chicago-based feed company. Operating mostly out of Pal-Waukee Airport, Hill transports company representatives to a number of towns across the country.

Office is plane cockpit

He's up in the clouds on business

by JOHN MAES

Like most busy executives, every workday morning Sam Hill slips inconspicuously from his Arlington Heights home and heads for his office.

But Hill's office is a little bit different. There's no carpeted ante-room, no mahogany desk bearing his nameplate. Hill's office is the cockpit of a twin-engine turbo-prop airplane he flies as chief corporation pilot for Allied Mill Inc., a Chicago-based feed company.

As a corporation pilot, Hill's journeys are not to the exotic areas in the world. Cozad, Neb., Laurel, Miss., and Union Springs, Ala., with an airport that doesn't even have a telephone, are more likely to be the ports Hill usually sees.

And besides flying the five-passenger aircraft, he oversees its maintenance and even plays flight attendant, on occasion getting hot coffee and sweet rolls, for company representatives to have as snacks.

BESIDES LOVING to fly, "I like to be involved, I'm a company-oriented person," the 29-year-old Hill says with just a hint of his North Carolina drawl.

He's even abandoned just about every pilot's dream of one day captaining a Boeing 747 jumbo jet for a commercial airline, although he quips, "if the company ever bought a jumbo-jet, I'd love it."

Hill's been flying for Allied Mills for about six years. "I came with the plane" on loan from the company that first rented them (Allied) the aircraft, a Rockwell International Turbo Commander 690. Hill stayed on as a pilot when Allied bought the plane.

'I grew up less than a mile from an airport in Greensboro, N.C.," says Hill.

IRONICALLY, however, an extremely rough but exhilarating ride on a commercial airline once convinced him to say, 'hey, I really like this."

Now Hill usually finds himself piloting the company plane four days a week, but he's not left with many idle hours the other three.

For one, he's on 24-hour call and unexpected business could mean he'd have to leave his wife Fran and daughter Jennifer, 19 months, any time of the day or night.

And nights before trips are spent plotting and reviewing courses along with a call to Pal-Waukee Airport where the plane is based to make sure ground crews have the plane out of the hangar by the time he arrives.

THE MORNING of a flight, Hill is up before dawn and goes right to the telephone to get a weather briefing and then files a flight plan for the day.

After that he leaves for the airport where he meets his passengers. Catering is not Hill's responsibility but he says, "I really enjoy doing it," — anything to make the flight a little more pleasant, he says.

Aren't some of those hidden in the hills and the woods airports hard to find? Maybe the first time around but sophisticated navigation devices make that a minor problem, says Hill.

United cancels flights until Friday

All United Airlines flights have been canceled at least through midnight Friday while federal negotiators try to resolve a contract dispute with striking ground personnel.

Contract negotiations between United and the International Association of Machinests under the direction of the National Mediation Board and chief federal mediator W. J. Usery, showed no signs of nearing a settlement Tuesday.

The talks were recessed until 10 a.m. CST Wednesday.

The strike by some 16,700 IAM members, which began Saturday, prompted United to lay off an estimated 13,000 non-striking employes. IAM represents United's mechanics, flight dispatchers and ramp and food service workers.

Although United and IAM refused to discuss the negotiations, sources said the talks hinged on the issues of pay, pensions and part-time employes.

Estimates of United's benefits under the Mutual Aid Pact were made by officials of the Airline Pilots Association, which has long contended that the pact gives the airlines an unfair advantage in strikes.

IAM announced recently that it will pay no strike benefits after Jan. 1, when its strike fund falls below $500,000.

This would deprive the striking United employes of the $40 weekly benefits they are entitled to receive after two weeks on strike.

Northwest Scouts set funds goal

A goal of $125,000 has been set by the Northwest Suburban Council of Boy Scouts for its Golden Anniversary fund drive.

Council officials hope the goal for the 1976 "Friends of Scouting" campaign will be reached through cash and pledges by April 30, 1976.

"One-third of the annual operating income of the Boy Scouts of America in this area comes from 12 suburban United Funds," said Robert Y. Paddock, general chairman of the campaign. "This means the council must raise the balance through Friends of Scouting, Lunch-O-Ree programs, and through our general Scout-O-Rama."

The campaign will be conducted in each district on three levels. District enrollment has already begun, community enrollment will begin Jan. 15 and Scout Family enrollment is scheduled to begin Jan. 17.

Appreciation recognition plaques will be presented for sustaining membership donations beginning at $100. "Friends of Scouting" memberships range from $25 to $5,000.

Donations may be sent to the Northwest Suburban Council office, P. O. Box 968, Arlington Heights 60006.

DR. THOMAS KIM, director of the Northwest Community Hospital intensive care unit since July, believes that well trained medical personnel are the most important factor in saving lives.

People not equipment save lives of critically ill: Kim

by LINDA PUNCH

Dr . Thomas Kim fights a daily battle with death.

The new director of Northwest Community Hospital's intensive-care unit, Dr. Kim comes in contact with most of the critically ill patients in the hospital. He said people, not fancy medical equipment, are the most important factor in saving lives.

"A lot of hospital people equate good equipment with good medicine. They forget that it takes a good doctor or nurse to use the machines. Most ICU patients are hooked up to various pieces of equipment for monitoring and therapeutic purposes, what is important is who is watching it," he said.

MOST OF THE STAFF working in the intensive-care unit receive more specialized training, Dr. Kim said, noting that critically ill patients require "more of a one-to-one patient-nurse relationship than those less critically ill. You have to do more things for them."

The majority of ICU patients suffer from some form of heart or lung problem, he said. They include accident victims suffering from multiple injuries, patients in shock or in a coma and patients recovering from neuro-surgical or vascular surgery.

"The intensive-care unit is a very rough place. Psychologically, the environment is very stressing for everybody — patients, nurses, doctors and the family," Dr. Kim said.

The hospital staff 'has to have more control" in the intensive-care unit so "we really can't make things pleasant for everybody. Patient conditions dictate the priority," he said.

"IN ICU, YOU have to get on top of the disease — if you follow it, you're more likely to lose patients. We recognize it's a rough place for patients," he said.

Many people have misconceptions about the intensive-care unit, including the use of respirators, Dr. Kim said.

"I don't like the term respirator — the only one who has made a respirator is God. These machines are really ventilators — they simply support the breathing mechanism of the body. They really don't keep people alive. You need other supportive measures for that," he said.

Many people think patients on ventilators will die if the equipment is turned off, but Dr. Kim said this belief is "not true."

"VENTILATORS ARE an everyday supportive measure. Most of the people on the machines survive and go home," he said.

"The better we get in critical-care medicine, the better chance we have to prolong life. But in some cases, we're prolonging the agony and suffering for both patients and family since many terminally-ill people are brought to the hospital to die. In this society, there is no place to die outside the hospital," he said.

Dr. Kim said the ICU can be "depressing but to see some of the people who have survived against overwhelming odds is our reward."

estimates of the district's cost of administering the program.

The park board action comes a day after the village youth council voted to support full village funding of the counselors. The council's action came in spite of the village administration position paper and comments from its chairman.

Alfred J. Barbaro, council chairman, said at the time, "I personally felt there was some justification for the parks to pay a portion (of the program)."

The park position has been the problems of youths in the parks are an extention of problems in the community and burden of correcting those problems should be shared.

House plan not imposed by the county

Arlington Heights will not have a housing assistance plan imposed on it by Cook County if the village fails to develop its own plan, county officials said.

"It's not the law. It's just not the case," said Terry Hansen, project director for Cook County's Community Development Program.

The possibility of an imposed housing plan was first raised three weeks ago at a public hearing on whether the village should apply for $295,000 in federal grants.

Under terms of the Community Housing and Development Act grant, the village must develop a housing assistance plan, although money from the grant is not used to implement it.

THE VILLAGE housing commission came out with a tentative plan calling for the creation of 375 units of subsidized rental housing over the next three years. The village board has not acted on the plan.

Hansen said Arlington Heights is not included in the county's housing program because its population is greater than 50,000.

"We will not impose any plan on a village without prior consultation with that community," he said.

Hansen said if the village does not have a housing assistance plan, private developers can introduce one in existing, newly constructed or rehabilitated rental buildings. He said private developers must meet all local requirements and codes.

The village board's finance committee, which held the hearing on the grant, requested a series of legal opinions from Village Atty. Jack M. Siegel. Trustees asked what obligations, requirements and "strings" were attached to the federal funds.

IT WAS THE fear of federal requirements in part that led to the village's rejection of the grant funds last year.

The use of grant money is determined by the community and is generally used for capital projects not regularly part of a municipal budget.

Trustee Frank Palmatier, at the first hearing, assured the audience that the grant money "cannot and will not be used for low and moderate income housing."

Palmatier, chairman of the finance committee, said that a redevelopment of the central business district would be "one of the most meritorious uses" of the money.

Another hearing on the grant application has been scheduled for Dec. 16 when consideration will be given to specific programs and projects to be undertaken if the village decides to apply for the funds.

Missing out on a pension plan?
Read about this big tax-saving idea!
Recently enacted U.S. Government legislation has made possible generous tax benefits for people with no pension plan.
Under the Pension Reform Act, you can contribute annually up to 15 per cent of your earnings — not to exceed $1500 — to a pension plan. You can deduct the entire amount from your taxable income for the year and pay no current income taxes on it whatsoever. In fact, you pay no taxes on it until retirement when, most likely, you will be earning less and in a far lower tax bracket. What's more, the money contributed draws interest and increases rapidly in your retirement fund. And you pay no taxes on the interest, either, until retirement.
Through MONY, I have long specialized in pension plans. If you are not participating in a pension plan, I can show you how to get one of your own quickly and easily — while you save on taxes. All it takes is a letter or phone call.

Firm aids cop hopefuls with jobs

Officials of a new Chicago-based firm say they've come to the rescue of thousands of persons seeking police and firefighting careers.

The firm, Municipal Resources Co., is acting as a clearing house for information on law enforcement and fire department positions in some 300 communities around Chicago.

In periodic bulletins and supplements to its subscribers the firm lists times, dates and locations of police and fire department examinations in area communities. Included are details on each town and their salaries and job benefits.

MICHEAL R. Burns, a Skokie police sergeant and president of the agency said, "It's a response to a sore need for a service of this nature." He said there are huge numbers of men and women seeking such jobs, many who have related degrees but no way of learning about job opportunities.

A cofounder and general manager of the firm, Thomas H. McEnaney, is a former Skokie patrolman dismissed from the force in June for participating in a police strike. Another former policeman is a researcher and an exfireman also is employed with the firm.

"The last time they gave the police exam in Chicago, 17,000 people came down," Burns said. "And the problem is that each of these communities have testing on their own but people not in the immediate area don't get the opportunity to hear about it."

In many communities, advertising for police and fire department openings consists of no more than a legal notice in local newspapers, "and in law enforcement, there's no campus recruiting," Burns said.

BURNS SAID the idea for the company came to him while he was working on a political science degree in night school. He said he talked to a number of people interested in police and fire careers, but they said information was lacking.

"The question always came up and they'd say 'gee, I wanted to be a policeman here, but they had the test two weeks ago.' Well opportunity knocks only once and if they miss that small legal notice there's a two-year wait," he said.

In October, its first month of mailings, the firm listed 18 job openings.

The firm charges $25 for six months and $40 for a year of its service. Burns said they have about 100 subscribers.

BURNS SAID the firm hopes to expand operations to all of Illinois and parts of Wisconsin and Indiana within a year.

He said wages and benefits are attracting large numbers of applicants to the police and firefighting fields. He said around Chicago, pay and benefits are the highest in the Midwest. "Our area is somewhat higher, policemen are running a little over $10,000 a year to start and firemen have received somewhat less but parity is coming about, and in many communities it already exists," he said.

Although municipal tax bases, generally highest in Chicago's North and Northwest suburbs, play a part, Burns said the strength of police and fire unions are largely responsible for attractive wages and benefits.

The Combined Counties Police Assn., a police union that represents departments in many Chicago suburbs in a "local phenomenon."

He said many candidates for police positions today, "far exceed requirements by communities" and many have education backgrounds beyond a high school diploma which is required by state law.

Banker may head U.S. business unit

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Ford said Tuesday he will nominate banker Mitchell Kobelinski to head the Small Business Administration and Peter B. Bensinger, an aide to the Illinois attorney general, to direct the Drug Enforcement Administration.

Ford named Kobelinski, a 47-year-old member of the U.S. Export-Import Bank's board of directors, to succeed Thomas S. Kleppe as SBA chief. Kleppe became interior secretary Oct. 17.

Bensinger, 39, head of the Crime Victims Division of the Illinois attorney general's office, would succeed John R. Bartels at the DEA. Bartels resigned June 9.

Before joining the Export-Import Bank in June, 1973, Kobelinski was vice president and a director of the Parkway Bank in Harwood Heights, Ill., and general counsel and a director of the First State Bank of Chicago.

Bensinger is a former executive director of the Chicago Crime Commission. From 1970 to 1973, he was director of the Illinois Department of Corrections.

GOP delegate meeting Saturday

Republican Party leaders from the 12th Congressional District will meet Saturday to start selecing the four delegates who will represent the district at next summer's Republican National Convention.

The meeting of Wheeling, Elk Grove, Schaumburg, Palatine and Barrington township committeemen and the Lake County Chairman will be at 8:30 a.m. in Lake Zurich's Farman's Hotel.

The party leaders will interview candidates for the four delegate and four alternate positions and also will discuss whether to slate delegates loyal to former California Gov. Ronald Reagan or to President Ford.

Many of the district's party leaders already have endorsed Ford for reelection. To avoid a split, some leaders have suggested slating two delegates for each candidate.

Carl Hansen, Elk Grove Township Committeeman, said the proposal "seems to me to be a realistic approach since three is strong sentiment for both candidates."

Donald Totten, Schaumburg Township Committeeman, said, "I hope we will agree on one slate that would be representative of the district and it would be impossible to slate four Ford delegates or four Reagan delegates and represent the district."

Totten said if Ford loyalists push for four Ford delegates "There will be no agreement and I think we will see four candidates for each side in the primary."

Harold Smith, Barrington Township committeeman and a Ford backer, declined to speculate on the outcome of delegation discussions. "I don't think we should jump to any conclusions about how it will turn out," he said.

FLOYD FULLE, center, announces his resignation from the Cook County Board following sentencing Tuesday to five years in prison for extortion, perjury and mail fraud. (Photo by Dom Najolia)

Fulle gets 5 years, quits county board; 'will appeal'

12-member jury for nearly two weeks will be included. One federal official estimated the trial price tag at $10,000.

DECKER CALLED the payoffs — by Builder Thomas Origer of Palatine and by officials of Sellergren, Inc., Park Ridge — to obtain county zoning "a tragic sequence of events. A trusted public official used the power of his office to force the payment of money to which he had no claim.

"He then took steps to cover his tracks. . . and lied before a federal grand jury," Decker said.

"I can find no good reason to moderate the sentence in an extortion case because the defendant wore the cloak of public responsibility," the judge said.

The five-year sentence is "a message that crime no longer pays," Decker added.

Fulle told reporters in the lobby of the Dirksen Building that he will file immediate notice of appeal.

HE CHARGED federal prosecutors with "manufacturing evidence" and with using "psychological" tricks to win the conviction.

"Let me emphasize that I am not guilty of the charges," he said. "Even though in my heart, it's unfair and unjust, I shall resign as a county commissioner this morning."

Fulle returned to his County Building office about 11:30 a.m., an hour after the hearing ended. He met with County Board Pres. George Dunne for about 15 minutes, and then resigned from the board.

Decker began the hearing about 10:15 a.m. by denying defense motions for a new trial or acquittal that were included in a 21-page appeal.

"I will rest on the transcript," Decker told Fulle's attorneys. The post-trial motions claim that Fulle was denied a fair trial, protested sequestering of the jury and attacked Decker and federal prosecutors.

"THERE IS NO basis for the defendant's contention that he was denied a fair trial," Decker said.

Decker also said the court transcript will "answer" whether the "zealousness" of defense attorneys William R. Jacobs II and Arthur Zimmerman interfered with Fulle's defense. Jacobs and Zimmerman argued repeatedly with Decker during the trial and Decker once talked of contempt of court charges against the pair.

The attorneys stood silent during the sentencing.

Fulle was convicted of extorting payoffs from Origer, a former owner of the defunct Chicago Fire football team, and plumbing contractor William Adams, who represented Sellergren. Fulle threatened the builder with county board delays of lucrative apartment zoning.

The indictment also charged that Fulle did not report the payoffs on his 1968 and 1970 income tax returns and that he lied about the payoffs before a federal grand jury.

FULLE ALSO WAS indicted for lying before the grand jury about the purchase of a Florida vacation home. Federal prosecutors said Fulle paid $45,000 for the home and concealed $10,000 in payoff money in the downpayment. Fulle told the grand jury that he paid $35,000 for the home in Hollywood, Fla.

Fulle's wife told the jury during the trial that money for the vacation home came from $16,000 she collected in a "cookie tin," not from a $10,000 payoff. She also testified that Fulle was vacationing during dates of two payoffs by Adams and as an alibi produced a speeding ticket Fulle received in Kentucky during one vacation trip.

Adams allegedly delivered the $10,000 payoff to Fulle in a County Building washroom.

Commissioners set up replacement procedure

by WANDALYN RICE

The remaining suburban Cook County commissioners have promised a statement Thursday on the procedure for selecting a replacement for resigned Comr. Floyd Fulle amid increasing calls for a selection process which will be open to the public and party leaders.

Comr. Carl Hansen of Elk Grove Village said, however, no decision will be reached on Fulle's replacement until next month, when Comr. Mary McDonald returns from an overseas vacation.

Party leaders, ranging from former Gov. Richard Ogilvie down to township committeemen, have called on the suburban commissioners to consult with other Republicans before making the selection.

UNDER LAW THE five remaining suburban commissioners have the sole power to name the successor, with no specific screening procedures legally required. Hansen said, "I think the commissioners will be receptive to an open screening process."

The selection process envisioned by many party leaders would involve a meeting of the five commissioners, three of whom are township committeemen, and the other township committeemen who would hear presentations from candidates and make a choice.

Wheeling Township Committeeman Frend Yonkers said, "I feel they should come to the suburban committeemen for advice even though the successor is selected by the remaining suburban board members. I think there should be open meetings where we would be able to see all the candidates."

Ogilvie said last weekend he does not want to see the suburban commissioners choose a "party hack" for the vacant seat. If they do he will personally work against them the next time they run for reelection.

SINCE FULLE WAS convicted Oct. 31, a number of persons have either indicated interest in the seat or have been mentioned by other party leaders as possible candidates. Two of the avowed candidates are Sheldon Gardner, an aide to State's Attorney Bernard Carey who has been endorsed by Mrs. McDonald and Ethel Kolerus, Wheeling Township supervisor.

In addition, Wayne Anderson of Des Plaines, a candidate two years ago for county treasurer, and Dan Baldino of Evanston, a member of the Regional Transportation Authority board, both told The Herald this week they are interested in the county board seat.

Anderson, whose losing bid for county treasurer, has drawn praise from party leaders, said, "I certainly think I could do a good job (as a commissioner). It's something I would like to do."

Baldino said he expects to become an active candidate for the board vacancy. He said, "I have waited until after the sentencing because I did not think it would be appropriate to say anything before that."

Village takes woman to court

'Stars' a 'no-no' in Schaumburg

Mike Klein's people

Irene Petke's problems began with her water bill.

She decided that paying one yearly rate would be nice for her "nonprofit church," the Universal Truth Astrology and Spiritual Center.

So Irene wrote to Schaumburg Village Pres. Raymond Kessell.

A response came from John Coste, village manager. He wrote that Irene's water bill was considered valid and that payment would be expected. So she paid.

COSTE, HOWEVER, also wrote, "If my information is correct, you are in effect conducting an unauthorized business . . ."

He advised Irene, who says she has no lawyer and no paid employes, that "necessary appropriate actions" had been requested from Police Chief Martin Conroy.

There are many horrible offenses which Irene might have chosen to commit.

She could have arranged rooster fights, advertised to locate oil wells, gold or silver within village limits or even managed a house of immoral practices.

Irene's alleged offense, however, is not so exicting.

KNOWN AS Irene Diamond, the reverend of her own "church," Irene is being chased by Schaumburg officials for the practice of astrology.

That's right, astrology.

According to Schaumburg ordinance Chapter 20, Section 20-28, astrology will be unlawful when used to give advice, with or without payment.

It says many other things, too.

After stipulating the unlawfulness of advertising to locate oil wells, restore lost love or procure lovers, the ordinance stands firm against giving advice by means of palmistry.

THE SCHAUMBURG Park District, however, offers a palm reading course and will accept your registration in return for $20.

The legislation also declares unlawful any advice given by means of psychology. This might surprise the officials of Schaumburg Township Dist. 54, which employs school psychologists.

In fact, the ordinance further declares unlawful any advice given by means of all ". . . occult or psychic powers . . . or (a) like crafty science . . ."

Whether this means no more praying to God is not mentioned.

The village finally took its "necessary appropriate actions" last Wednesday. Irene Petke was presented with a court summons and two complaints.

"A NICE POLICEMAN came," said Irene. The officer was not Schaumburg Sgt. Harry Petke, her husband.

Irene is being pinched for allegedly accepting $10 at a card reading, also for alleged unlawful advertising of astrology and tarot (fortune telling with cards) classes.

Both complaints list the alleged offenses as having occurred Nov. 11, 1975.

Irene keeps great records. She's written down the name of every visitor since her Universal Truth Astrology and Spiritual Center opened in April.

She had three visitors Tuesday, Nov. 11. A mother and daughter visit regularly. There also was a Schaumburg village employe who had an 11 a.m. appointment but did not attend until her lunch hour.

THIS PERSON never visited the spiritual center before Tuesday, Nov. 11, and hasn't returned since that date.

Irene thinks that perhaps she was set up.

I called the village employe in question Monday night. A man answered the phone and said the woman employe would not speak with me. He also said it was not acceptable to contact her at work Tuesday.

But Tuesday morning I called the Schaumburg village offices. The woman would only say, "No, I don't want to make any statements at this time.

Coste, who wrote to Irene advising of "necessary appropriate actions," said Tuesday, "I don't make the ordinances. I don't set judgment on them. I only see that they are enforced."

IF VILLAGE ordinance Chapter 20, Section 20-28, is upheld Jan. 28, 1976, in Cook County Circuit Court, then Irene Petke will lose her Universal Truth Astrology and Spiritual Center in Weatherway Plaza.

She's never had a business license there. Irene says Schaumburg denied her application.

What if she's forced out?

"I'll leave very quietly," said Irene, who's been an election judge for 19 years and long-time worker in the Regular Democratic Organization of Schaumburg.

Irene Petke.

I visited with Irene for more than three hours. We spent at least another hour speaking on the phone.

IRENE SAYS this is an unhappy world, that we see too much sex and violence being portrayed by the media and in motion pictures.

She thinks we should each examine our own lives and seek greater learning, faith, love, virtue and selflessness through astrology.

Irene also thinks we should ask God for strength.

She says then we will be prepared for the "New Age" of humanitarianism and knowledge.

Schaumburg's legal code doesn't see it quite the same way.

And now Irene is beginning to learn what happens when you complain about the water bill.

Dems leader seeks meet over delegate selection

by STEVE BROWN

State Democratic Chairman John Touhy Tuesday said he will seek a meeting within a week with Robert Strauss, chairman of the Democratic National Committee to settle the Illinois party's convention delegate selection plan.

Touhy told The Herald the Illinois Supreme Court rejection of a plan for delegate selection, "blocked party efforts to comply with national party rules."

The situation leaves the party with no approved plan to pick its 169 delegates for the 1976 national convention. It also increases the likelihood the Illinois delegation will face a credentials challenge next year, political observers noted.

TOUHY SAID he spent most of the day Tuesday trying to arrange a meeting with national party officials in Washington.

"We have to get this thing settled," Touhy added.

He noted the party is attempting to follow the national rules, which led to the ouster of Mayor Richard J. Daley in 1972 over a credentials challenge.

The State supreme court rejected a plan which would give Daley greater control over the Illinois delegation at the expense of suburban and downstate districts.

TOUHY WAS quick to explain the plan, which uses a formula based on the Democratic vote in the 1968 and 1972 presidential elections and the 1974 Democratic primary, will give Congressional districts represented by Democrats more delegates.

Both Gov. Daniel Walker and the Citizen's for Illinois Government filed objections to the plan. An attorney for the Democratic National Committee asked the court to adopt the plan.

Although candidates for convention delegate positions do not have to file nominating petitions until Jan. 7, Touhy said he has to inform each district on how many delegates they will have and establish a party-dictated affirmative action program to inform minorities of the delegate selection process.

Party officials attempted to use the U.S. Supreme Court decision handed down in a 1972 delegate dispute as the basis for their argument for selection of the current plan.

TOUHY SAID observers have noted the supreme court decision and an earlier ruling by the Illinois Board of Elections to reject the plan were defeats for Daley, but he questioned the motives of the persons objecting to the plan.

'We are trying to comply with the McGovern rules, but the liberals are trying to stop us from complying," Touhy said.

He added the party does not want to elect a slate of delegates just to see them challenged and possibly barred from participating in the convention as in 1972.

State ranks 7th in high taxes: report

Illinois residents paid an average $699 in taxes to state and local governments in 1974 — the seventh highest average in the United States, the Commerce Clearing House recently stated.

Illinois per capita tax average jumped from 14th in 1973 to 7th on the tax list, despite an average jump of $41 per person in taxes paid throughout the country, the report said.

Local residents paid $613 in taxes to state and local governments in 1973.

PER-CAPITA state-local tax burdens — which increased in all states except Connecticut — ranged from a high of $952 in New York to a low of $383 per taxpayer in Alabama. The new York average passed $900 per capita for the first time in history, the report said.

New York ranked as the top tax state for the ninth consecutive year.

California ($762 in 1974) lost second place to Massachusetts ($767 in 1974), the report stated.

At the bottom of the scale, seven states ranked under $450 — Alabama, Arkansas, Kentucky, Mississippi, Oklahoma, South Carolina and Tennessee. The median tax burden was $573 — an increase of $59 since 1973. The median tax burden state was Kansas.

Increases in per capital tax burdens ranged from a low of $3 in Utah to a high of $117 in Alaska. The per capita burden in Conecticut dropped $38 from $727 to $689. Five states had increases of $25 or less and six states, including Illinois, registered gains of at least $75, CCH reported.

TOTAL STATE and local tax collections for fiscal 1974 were $130 billion, up $9.6 billion from $121 billion in 1973. CCH said the 1974 collection figures mark a jump of almost 100 per cent from revenue collected for fiscal 1968 — $67 billion.

New York again led the states with $17 billion. Illinois reached $7.8 billion and Pennsylvania hit $7.3 billion.

Thirty-one states currently form the ranks of the "billionaires" club of states collecting at least $1 billion, CCH said.

The top 10 states in 1974 were: New York ($952), Massachuttes ($767), Hawaii ($765), California ($762), Nevada ($738), the District of Columbia ($725), Illinois ($699), Wisconsin ($696), Minnesota ($696) and Connecticut ($689).

Aspirin's effect on heart attacks to be examined

Six hundred Chicago area volunteers are being sought for a nationwide project aimed at reducing the threat of heart attack or stroke through the monitored use of aspirin.

Volunteers between the ages of 30 and 69 who have had a heart attack within the past five years may discuss the program with doctors between 4 and 6 p.m. Thursday at the Civic Center lobby, 121 N. La Salle St., Chicago.

Four medical institutions are sponsoring the study in this area.

HEADING THE STUDY are Dr. David Berkson, chief, section of cardiovascular diseases, St. Joseph Hospital; Dr. Olga Haring, director, cardio-pulmonary-renal clinics, Northwestern University Medical School; Dr. James A. Schoenberger, chairman, preventive medicine department, Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center and president, Chicago Heart Assn.; and Dr. Gary Wilner, cardiologist, Evanston Hospital.

Participants are not charged for drugs or medical attention directly related to the study. Information from the study will be forwarded to each volunteer's private doctor.

Persons who qualify will be assigned randomly to take either aspirin or a harmless control substance. After initial evaluation, participants will be examined every four months. Blood tests and other laboratory analyses including an annual chest x-ray and ECG will be taken.

"Medical researchers have suspected for some time that aspirin may be capable of preventing heart attacks or myocardial infarctions because of its ability to retard clotting within blood vesels," said Dr. Schoenberger. "But so far we have only bits of evidence, not proof."

Unlike many clinical tests dealing with the heart, women are eligible to participate in the aspirin study because of the increased incidence of heart attacks among females.

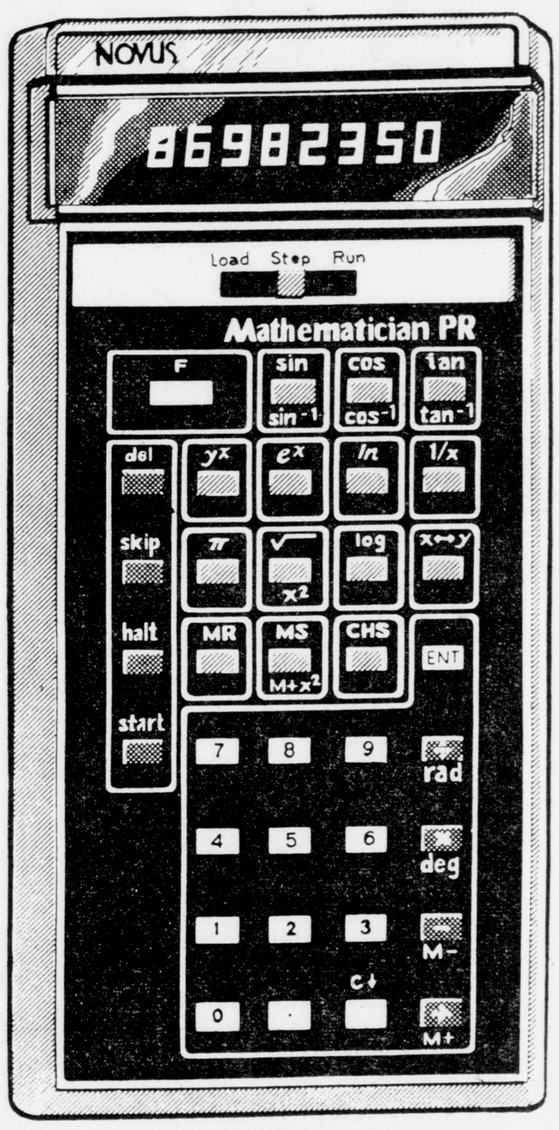

The $16 million study is funded by the National Lung and Health Institute.

Mikva urges letters to back U.S. cash

U.S. Rep. Abner J. Mikva, D-10th, has urged local officials to begin a letter writing campaign to promote the renewal of the federal revenue-sharing program next year.

Mikva, who had been optimistic about the federal program being renewed, said recently his "early optimism about the program has been slowly eroded."

Mikva said testimony before U.S. House subcommittee on Intergovernmental Relations and Human Resources has indicated there has been some misuse of funds.

"I am disturbed by the level of criticism of revenue sharing that has come from public officials," Mikva said during a weekend meeting of local municipal officials in Skokie.

He told them they should write personal letters urging renewal of the program, rather than having their village boards pass resolutions on the program.

"There appears to be no constituency for federal revenue sharing except local public officials. A lobbying effort must be mounted to counteract the parade of horribles that was recited to the subcommittee in its hearing which ended Dec. 2.

Mikva also released a survey of revenue sharing fund uses for towns in the 10th Congressional District which indicates the towns used 33 per cent of the money for public safety, 17 per cent on public transportation, 13 per cent on health and environmental protection and another 15 per cent under the category of "multipurpose government."

Mikva said the results of the survey indicated communities in the district are not wasting their funds.

He added there are now two proposals before Congress. One would renew the program with no major changes. The second would realign the allocation formula to favor big cities on a "need basis." Mikva said the affect of the second bill would reduce the amount suburban communities and townships receive from the program.

He also noted his survey revealed local towns use the revenue sharing funds to pay abut 7 per cent of their budgets.

Woman presidential candidate

Ellen McCormack, a Democratic candidate for president being supported by the Pro-Life Action Committee, will appear at a reception at 3 p.m. Saturday at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, Chicago.

McCormack, a columnist and manager of several successful congressional campaigns, is seeking the Democratic nomination for president. She is the first woman ever to run on the regular Democratic ballot.

The reception for McCormack is sponsored by the Illinois Federation for Right to Life. She will run in the Massachusetts Presidential primary in February.

"The basic reason for my action is that there are certain principles in which I believe deeply, I believe in the right to life of every human being from the first moment of existence until the last moment of death," she said.

High environment ratings

Several local legislators received high ratings for the recently completed session of the Illinois General Assembly from the Illinois Environmental Council.

On a system which gave the lawmakers one point for each vote on environmental matters, State Representatives Aaron Jaffe, D-Skokie, and Richard Mugalian, D-Palatine, received 17 and 16 points respectively.

State Rep. Eugenia Chapman, D-Arlington Heights received a 15.

The results of the survey showed that suburban Democrats generally received higher scores than Republicans on the environmental matters.

The votes on which the ratings were based included legislating creating board to determine sites for electrical generating plants, creating scenic rivers and creating a consumer protection act administered by a consumer advocate.

Crane opposes N.Y. City help

U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-12th, has repeated his opposition to federal plans to bail out New York city.

Crane said that he is disappointed the administration yielded to pressure from New York and agreed to the short-term loan plan.

Crane noted that New York has given up little to obtain the federal assistance. He also stated that the government plan does nothing to prevent further default.

Crane said he intends to work for passage of legislation introduced by U.S. Sen. Thomas Eagleton, D-Mo., which would require government agencies to make full financial disclosures in connection with the sale of municipal securities.

Jaffe gets 100% from ACLU

State Rep. Aaron Jaffe, D-Skokie, announced Tuesday he has received a 100 rating from the American Civil Liberties Union for his voting record in the Illinois General Assembly during 1975.

Jaffe said he was one of five representatives in the 177 member House of Representatives to receive the 100 ratings.

The rating was determined by the lawmakers votes on legislation, including women's rights, privacy rights, capital punishment, separation of church and state, juvenile and student rights and defendants' rights.

Included in the bills used to develop the rating was a bill introduced by Jaffe, which provides new controls over eavesdropping procedures in Illinois.

Art auction for Ayers

Terrence Ayers, a candidate for the State Senate from the 2nd Legislative District, will hold an art auction Friday to raise campaign funds.

Ayers said the auction will begin with a preview from 7:30 p.m. until 9 p.m. at the Holiday Inn in Itasca. The auction will begin at 9 p.m.

Proceeds from the auction will be used to fund his campaign, Ayers said.

Wall to wall

'Joy, not a job, in wallpapering': retailer

by LEA TONKIN

Come on, you can do it. Let your personality shine in a splash of color or smooth symmetrical design. Even a chameleon can find happiness in the myriad of wallpaper fancies now on the market.

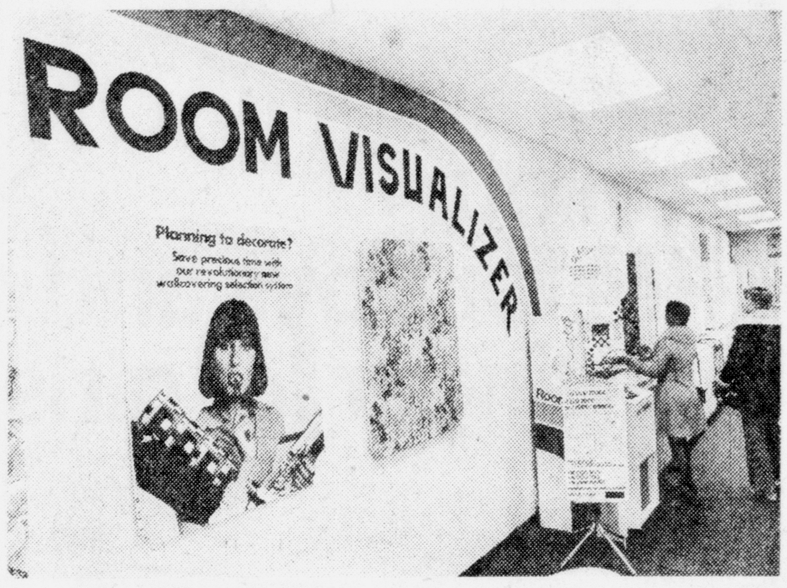

One retailer who's doing his best to banish nasty rumors about the trials and tribulations of wallpapering is Albert Sennese, president of Fancy Colours and Co., and operator of the Fancy Colours Store, 2160 Plum Grove Rd., Rolling Meadows. If Sennese has his way, do-it-yourself decorators will learn to shop for wallpapers like they shop for hot dogs in a supermarket.

"We'll make it a joy rather than a job," Sennese said. "People can buy wallpaper today and have a beautiful room tomorrow."

SENNESE INSISTS he's not kidding. He said homeowners who have been out of the wallpapering business a few years should forget the agonies of decision making, the aggravations of reordering paper, the near-divorce proceedings that sometimes occur among amateur paper hangers and the tardy discovery that a colorful wallcovering is not washable.

You can make great things happen on your walls without the hassles of yesteryear, Sennese said. At the Fancy Colours store, where wallcoverings, paint and supplies are sold, easy-does-it decorating is a constant theme. Several hundred wallpaper designs are stocked at the store.

Samples of wallcoverings can be taken home for comparison, a welcome change for sample snitchers. Papers are grouped according to types such as florals, flocks, geometrics and stripes. Samples are marked to tell whether they're stripable, scrubbable, washable and prepasted.

PEOPLE CAN BUY wallpaper today and have a beautiful room tomorrow, said Albert Sennese of the Fancy Colours store, Rolling Meadows. A Room Visualizer machine offers shoppers the chance to view wallpaper patterns with roomsetting overlays.

The amateur decorator can go it alone at Fancy Colours. For those who seek new ideas, an interior decorator is available for consultation. A Room Visualizer machine offers viewers the chance to match wallpaper patterns with room setting overlays and a mini-theatre provides short courses in paperhanging and decorating.

SALES SUCCESS will show the popularity of the easy wallcovering approach, Sennese said. A 100 per cent boost in sales during the past year should lead to a record $1 million business in 1976, he said. Approximately half the store's sales of wallpaper and paint are retail transactions, and the remaining are wholesale business.

When the Fancy Colours store recently was moved to larger quarters, the plans centered on development of paint, wallpaper and sundries sales. "We're not a home improvement store," Sennese said.

He has experience as a national paint sales manager for a paint firm. His parents, Joseph and Kathryn Sennese, operated a paint and hardware store on Chicago's south side for many years. They serve as secretary-treasurer and vice president of Fancy Colours, respectively.

Home fix-up supplies have a bright future despite the ups and downs of the economy, Sennese said. "A sluggish economy is always good for paint and wallpaper, as long as people don't have enough money to relocate but have enough money to redecorate," he said.

"TO A DEGREE, the industry is recession-proof," said Jack Fulweiler, director of research for the National Decorating Products Assn., St. Louis, Mo. He said many retailers report slow sales of paint and wallpaper during the past two years, however.

"The dollar volume of wallcovering sold is growing, although the number of rolls is less," Fulweiler said. "Wallcoverings starting about 10 years ago had about a 15 per cent increase a year until two years ago. Then they hit a plateau."

Part of the decline is pegged to one major manufacturer's departure from the business and dramatic increases in imported wallcovering prices. "A $20 roll might have gone up to $60 or $70 a roll," Fulweiler said.

Total U. S. wallcovering retail sales amounted to 730 million during 1973, Fulweiler said. He estimates that 160 million rolls of wallpaper are sold annually in the U.S. A decline in housing construction during the past two years affected wallpaper and paint sales.

Paint sales in the United States totaled 434 million gallons during 1973 in the trade sales market. The sales amount to $1.66 billion. Fulweiler said the 1973 reports from the U. S. Dept. of Commerce should be considered along with the association's recent survey of 600 member firms. The association's survey indicates that sales as of the third quarter of 1975 increased 12 per cent above 1974 sales.

A number of home decorating products retailers are experimenting with new merchandising techniques, Fulweiler said. There is skepticism of the instant decorating sales appeal, however. "People may be afraid they won't measure right," Fulweiler said. "They want someone to hold their hand."

Dow rises 2.52; stock prices mixed at closing

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices closed mixed Tuesday for the second consecutive day on the New York Stock Exchange.

Year-end tax-loss selling and portfolio adjustments were said to be the major factors that had the market searching for direction much of the session marked by moderate trading. Investors did not respond strongly to any particular news development.

The late bargain hunting pushed the Dow Jones industrial average 2.52 points higher to 824.15, after it fluctuated most of the day. It had been off more than four points during the afternoon and ahead around two at the outset. The blue-chip average gained 2.83 points Monday, following last week's 41.87-point plunge.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index added 0.23 to 87.30, and the average price of an NYSE common share increased by four cents.

OF THE 1,843 issues crossing the tape, 744 declined, 599 advanced and 500 remained unchanged.

Volume totaled 16,040,000 shares, up slightly from the 14,150,000 traded Monday.

Avon Products, the second most active Big Board issue, fell 1-1/8 to 35-5/8 on 262,700 shares. The issue lost 5-1/8 points Friday after the company announced a merger agreement with Monarch Capital.

International Flavors & Fragrances rose 7/8 to 25. The company raised its dividend to 8 cents a share from 7½ cents. Among the other glamors, MCA Inc. lost 1-5/8 to 61-7/8. Xerox gained 1 to 48-7/8, Walt Disney 1 to 47-5/8.

Texaco led the Big Board actives falling ½ to 23-1/8 on 382,700 shares, including a block of 200,000 shares at 23. Idaho Power was third, off 1-3/8 to 25-3/8 on 250,600 sharss.

Prices closed lower in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. The average price of an Amex share lost five cents. Volume totaled 1,750,000 shares, compared with 1,690,000 traded Monday.

'New' protection plan a gimmick: service manager

by MONICA WILCH PERIN

American Motors' new Service Protection Plan, which will be ballyhooed in January as an auto industry first on the consumer front, really isn't so revolutionary.

"There's nothing new about it. It's what we've been doing all along," said Chuck Singsime, service manager for North Shore Motors, Wheeling.

The three-point plan promises AMC car owners a free, written cost estimate on all repairs, customer inspection of replaced parts, and a three-month, 3,000-mile guarantee on parts and labor, regardless of car model or year.

In its press release announcing the program, AMC acknowledged that dealers already warrant their service work, but the company contended the dealers "until now had no vehicle for advertising this."

"IT'S A PROMOTION gimmick," Singsime said. "It's going to instill customer confidence, which is what we need in this business."

However, Singsime added, the protection AMC customers got informally before the promotion of this plan was actually greater: AMC dealers' repair guarantee was for three months and 4,000 miles instead of 3,000 miles, he said.

The company contends the plan is unique because it "includes body and paint, sublet and insurance repairs, and is good at any AMC dealership in the United States or Canada."

AMC customers are entitled, under the plan, to free repairs by any AMC dealer on any service job that proves defective, thus protecting car owners away from home. But local AMC representatives differed as to whether customers would actually be served free or be reimbursed.

QUESTIONS ALSO remain as to whether the plan's requirements might encourage some service managers to over-estimate to protect themselves ("definitely," Singsime predicted), whether parts will be replaced more readily — rather than repaired — in order to show customers that work was done and whether the additional paperwork will raise costs.

"It's a lot of paperwork," Singsime said. "And it'll waste a lot of my time to look up prices to the penny for estimates, make repeated calls to a customer to clear every move, wait to hear from him — someone's going to pay for that time."

AMC in 1971 was the first auto maker to introduce a Buyer Protection Plan going significantly beyond then-existing warranty coverage. Unlike that plan, however, the Service Protection Plan is the responsibility of each dealer to administer and underwrite. AMC steps in only in case of disputes.

Petroleum group tells where gas money goes

NEW YORK (UPI) — The motorist Petroleum Institute says.
"has a legitimate concern" about the rising price of gasoline, the American Petroleum Institue says.

"The price of gasoline has been rising over the past two or three years and, quite frankly, the motorist wonders why," the API said.

"Are the oil companies ripping him off at the pump? What about those windfall profits he's been reading about? Are they the reason the price has risen?"

No, said the API in a recent report breaking down where every penny of the price of a gallon of regular gas—a procedure it notes is difficult to do with any precision.

API SAID ACTUAL costs vary substantially among oil companies for a number of reasons: type of crude oil used, where it comes from and at what price; refinery efficiency; transportation and marketing factors among others. To break out one product — in this case motor gasoline — from the many products made from crude oil in the refinery stream can result at best in a "guestimate," the API said.

Bearing all this in mind, it offers the following:

Out of a hypothetical gallon of regular gasoline costing 58.7 cents at the pump, the API said, the oil company makes an average of 2 cents profit.

The API noted in using the profit figure of 2 cents per gallon that, while Exxon has reported making that much, Standard of California says it earns 1.5 cents, Mobil 1.4 cents, and Phillips Petroleum and Texaco one cent.

"This profit may be derived from the sale of crude oil, from marketing operations, or from a combination of operations in the production, refining and marketing areas, depending on the individual company," the API explained.

THE LARGEST single piece of the pie is the 21.5 cents, or 36.7 per cent of the total, that goes to cover the cost of crude oil at the wellhead, according to the API.

The next largest chunk is the 12 cents, or 20.4 per cent of the total, for state and federal taxes. The federal excise tax is 4 cents per gallon. While state taxes vary, the API assumed an average of 8 cents per gallon in its calculations.

The third largest piece of the 58.7-cent pie is the 10.7 cents, or 18.2 per cent, that goes to the dealer "to cover his operating costs at the service station, and, hopefully, "a profit for his endeavors."

According to the API breakdown, 7 cents, or 11.9 per cent, covers transportation costs; two cents for transportation of crude to the refinery, three cents for moving gasoline to the terminal, and another two cents to get it from the terminal to the service station.

The API also figures 4.5 cents, 7.7 per cent, covers oil company marketing costs, and 3 cents, or 5.1 per cent, refinery operations and maintenance.

A STRICT NEW Illinois law is designed to protect merchants against shoplifting. Theft increases consumer prices.

'Retail theft' target of legislation

Law cracks down on shoplifters

Shoplifters can be prosecuted under a strict new Illinois law, said the state law enforcement director Harvey Johnson.

"The law creates the crime of 'retail theft' as a separate definition within the theft statutes," Johnson said. He said theft is one reason for rising retail prices in Illinois.

"Our own figures, compiled from nearly 1,000 police agencies in Illinois, show there were 175,307 thefts reported to police in 1974," Johnson said. "This is theft of all categories and costs the public $34.7 million in property losses. Shoplifting alone accounted for $1,255,698 of that figure.

"FOR A MERCHANT to stay in business, part of this cost, if not all of it, must be passed on to you, the consumer. It's either higher prices to you or insurance rates for him and on both counts you, the buyer losses," Johnson said. Preventative measures cost the retailer extra money, he said.

Shoplifting was a misdemeanor until Gov. Daniel Walker signed the new legislation Oct. 1. The new law will allow the merchant to sue the offender for civil damages of $100 to $500. The store does not have to wait for a conviction verdict or a guilty plea to initiate the suit.

"Taken seriously and enforced, this new law could easily bring the cost of merchandise back down 10 per cent whether it be men's socks or salad dressing," Johnson said. He estimates that consumers pay 10 to 33 per cent more for goods because of shoplifting activity.

In addition to general theft, the definition of retail theft includes label-switching, under-checking prices by employes, the theft of store carts and the practice of changing containers.

GMC says November car sales up

General Motors Corp. reports it delivered 443,493 new passenger cars and commercial vehicles to dealers during November.

Mack Worden, GM vice president in charge of marketing staff, said the figure includes delivery of 352,178 cars and 91,315 commercial vehicles.

"The sales performance by General Motors dealers in the month of November continues to exhibit the kind of strength we had anticipated," Worden said. "Passenger car sales on a daily basis during the month were 35.2 per cent ahead of the sales pace in November last year.

"Passenger car sales during the final period of November exceeded last year's pace on a daily basis by 13.5 per cent," he said. GM calendar year sales total 3,420,212 passenger cars and 953,592 commercial vehicles.

Greeting card industry braces for 13c stamp

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With the price of a first class stamp about to jump to 13 cents after the holidays, the greeting card industry believes there could be a boom next year in postcard greetings.

The reason is obvious. A Christmas postcard next year could go for 10 cents, three cents less than the traditional card-and-envelope.

Only a few postcards are on the market so far from two big manufacturers and UNICEF, the United Nations organization that traditionally sells Christmas cards, says Harry Cooper of the National Association of Greeting Card Publishers. Cooper thinks greeting cards are a matter of tradition based on the idea of confidentiality with a sealed envelope, especially when senders write messages on cards.

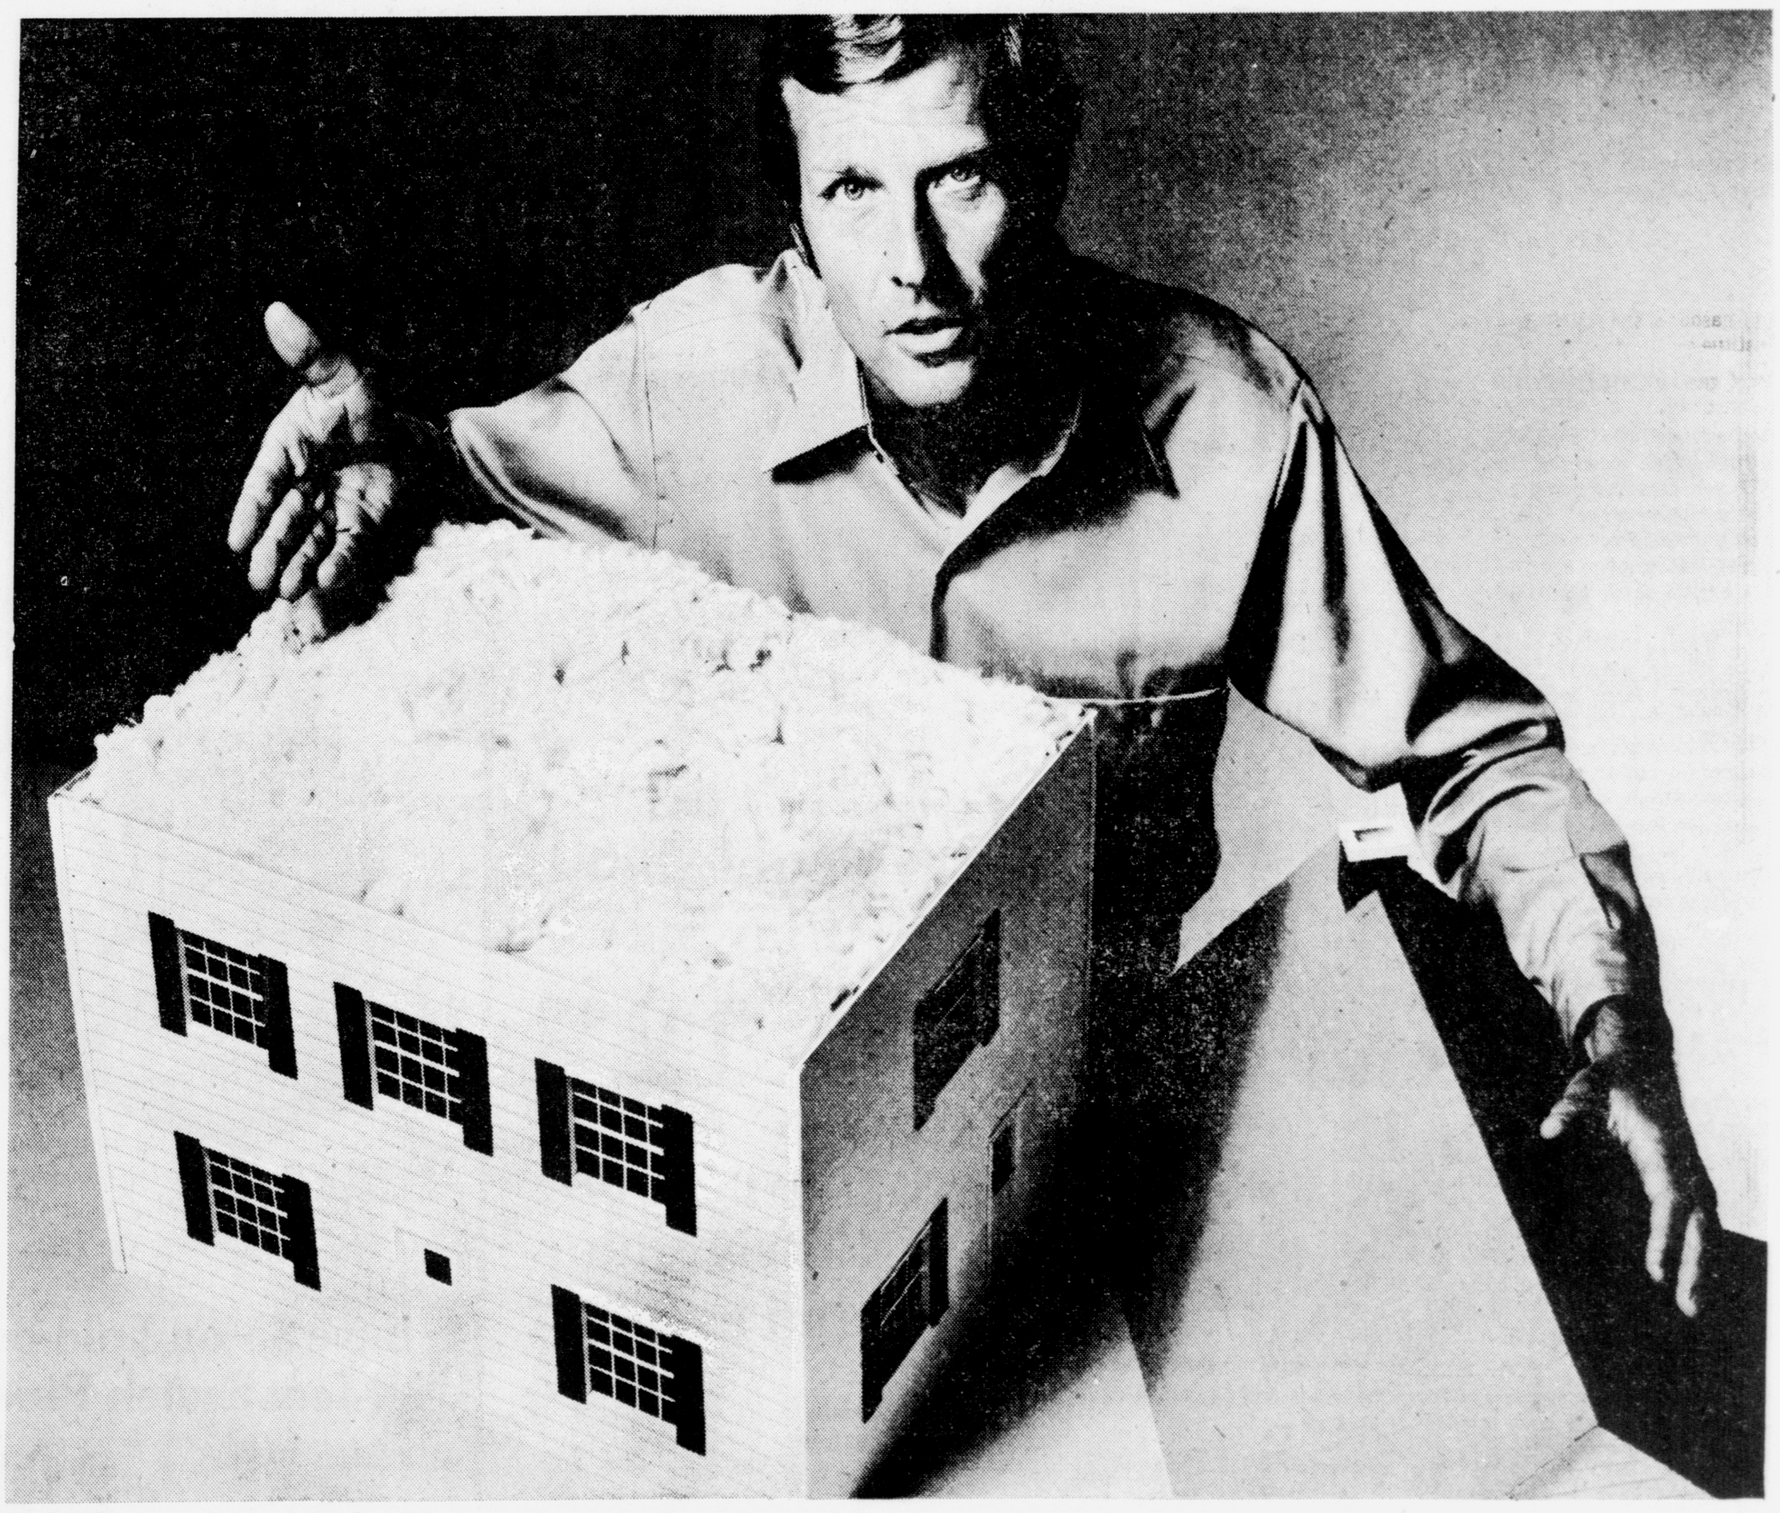

He said the first Christmas cards 90 years ago were postcards.

Meanwhile, the publishers' trade group favors legislation pending in Congress to freeze the first class rate at 10 cents for individual users.

Cooper said this could be accomplished by using a special stamp for personal mail. A severe penalty could be levied to discourage use of the 10-cent rate for other than personal purposes.

Otherwise, Cooper said, business in the greeting card industry appears to be good this year, recession or no.

A special offer that can save you up to 30% on heating and cooling costs.

NI-Gas will insulate your ceiling and give you up to 3 years to pay.

Part of the cost of heating your home may be going right through the ceiling. Because your ceiling is inadequately insulated.

If you are a NI-Gas residential heating customer, a NI-Gas insulation contractor will inspect your attic free. If it needs insulation, our contractor will recommend the amount and tell you what it will cost.

Then, if you agree, he'll install the amount of blown fiber glass insulation you select.

Installation is quick, quiet, clean. And you start enjoying the benefits immediately: a more comfortable home, winter and summer, and up to 30% savings on heating and cooling costs. Not just this year, but for as long as you own your home.

When installation is complete, you have 30 days to pay NI-Gas the full amount. Or you can use our convenient financing plan and take up to 3 years to pay at an annual percentage rate of 15%. Typical example: If an installation is made for a cash price of $200 and is paid for over 18 months at the annual percentage rate of 15%, you would make 17 monthly payments of $12.48 each and a final payment of $12.43 for a total deferred payment price of $224.59. The terms would, of course, vary depending on the cost of the installation, and the period over which payment is made. No down payment would be required; however, the maximum cash price amount which would be financed is $500, and the required minimum monthly payment is $10.00.

The availability of financing in any individual case is subject to credit approval by NI-Gas.

This offer expires April 30, 1976. So mail the coupon now. The sooner you do, the sooner you start to save energy and money.

If U.S. doesn't meddle financially

Farmers may have bright future

Farmers can expect a bright financial future if the government doesn't meddle in their affairs, said William Kuhfuss, president of the Park Ridge-based American Farm Bureau Federation.

"The outlook for a healthy and viable U.S. farm economy is bright, if agricultural producers are free to compete in the world market without interference from government in the form of export restrictions, participation in international commodity agreements, government-held reserves, or high commodity loan rates," he said Monday in remarks prepared for the Fifth International Commodities Conference.

Under the present system of "floating" exchange rates, Kuhfuss said, the U.S. dollar is no longer overvalued and the ability of U.S. farmers to compete in world markets has improved.

THE WORLD MARKET for farm commodities has been enlarged by increasing population, rising living standards, and the increasing willingness of Communist countries to import grain, he added, noting that the elimination of surplus commodity stocks has removed an important price depressing factor.

Because of increased world demand in the past three years, he said, farm prices generally have moved well above government support levels and significant progress has been made toward the goal of replacing government farm programs with a market-oriented agriculture.

Acreage set-aside requirements have been suspended for the 1974-76 wheat, feed grain, and cotton crops. Mandatory planting restrictions have been removed from all crops except tobacco, peanuts and extra long staple cotton. Direct export subsidies have been terminated and import restrictions have been relaxed.

Kuhfuss, recently named to President Ford's Advisory Committee for Trade Negotiations, said record crop production and farmers' increasing dependence on export market raises questions about the possibility of a return to the surplus conditions of a few years ago.

"UNDER A market-oriented agriculture stocks will, of course, rise in some years and there will be periods of uncertainty, but if we can maintain and improve our access to world markets, we should be able to avoid serious surplus problems," he said.

In order to maintain and expand exports, Kuhfuss said "we need to avoid government loan rates that would price our products out of world markets.

"We need also to avoid export controls which damage the reputation of the United States as a reliable source of supply and to persuade other countries to reduce their trade barriers," he said.

1.7 million cans recycled in Chicago area

Chicago area residents recycled the equivalent of more than 1 million aluminum beverage cans during November in the Reynolds Metals Co. program of regular mobile unit visits in area shopping centers.

The results were announced by Lou Weiss, Chicago area manager of the Reynolds Aluminum Recycling firm. Weiss said area residents turned in more than 75,000 pounds of aluminum, the equivalent of more than 1.7 million metal cans, during the past two months. Payments of more than $11,000 were given to participants in the recycling program.

The firm pays 15 cents a pound for all-aluminum cans and other clean household items in aluminum that can be readily recycled into new products. Frozen food containers and bakery pans are among the usable items.

The Reynolds mobile recycling unit makes regular stops at area shopping centers. Nearby locations include Hanover Park, Niles, Hillside, Libertyville and Waukegan. For information on specific locations and times, call Reynolds' Brookfield office, 485-9000.

Sears sales rise 6.7% in November

Sears, Roebuck and Co. reported sales for the five weeks ended Nov. 29 increased 6.7 per cent compared to the same period a year earlier.

Gross sales were $1,715,459,065, an increase of $107,559,168 over sales of $1,607,899,897 in the same period of 1974.

Arthur M. Wood, chairman and chief executive officer, noted that the Chicago company's sales increase was the largest since October 1974.

"The weather turned favorable in the third week of November," he said, "and we experienced double-digit sales increases for the last week of the month. This is strong evidence that retailers will enjoy a record-breaking Christmas season."

Labor panel to meet at Union Oil offices

The Labor Relations Committee of the Northwest Industrial Council will meet today at Union Oil Co. offices, Palatine.

Employe conditions will be discussed at the 12:15 p.m. meeting. Lunch is available at the open meeting. The council is an association of area industries, and provides information on personnel and labor relations.

Mothed, daughter in prestige business

Exec headhunters a family team

NEW YORK (UPI) — From the time she was 10, Jan Cris would greet her mother every evening by asking: "How many people did you place today, Mommy?"

Mommy, who is Helen Cris, worked for an employment agency in those days. Nowadays she runs Cris Associates, Inc., a placement and recruiting bureau for financial and accounting executives up to the $100,000 a year level that may be the only mother and daughter business of its kind.

"Jan astonished me when she was about to graduate from college by saying, 'Mother, I want to come in with you,' " Helen Cris explained. "I told her I was amazed because I don't think I would have wanted to work for my mother."

THAT WAS FOUR YEARS ago and Jan, still in her early twenties, is recruiting and finding jobs for executives much older than herself at top salaries.

Helen Cris started her business 14 years ago "because I found out I was working for a male chauvinist. He told me bluntly that, even though I had brought in a big share of his business that year, he wasn't willing to pay me what he would have to pay a man for the same job."

She thought it over awhile, marched into the chauvinist's office and quit.

Then she went to First National City Bank and asked for a substantial loan. "Where are you working," the man asked.

"I'm not," she answered.

'BUT WE DON'T lend to people who aren't working," he said, and waited for her to get up and leave.

Instead, she didn't budge in her chair until she had talked the man into approving the loan.

Her business has been very successful and Mrs. Cris attributes it in part to a decision to specialize in placing and recruiting financial and accounting executives and to acquiring an expertise in those fields — but only in part.

"I think that in the personnel business what counts most is understanding people and caring about them," she said. "I've always cared a lot about individuals and so does Jan."

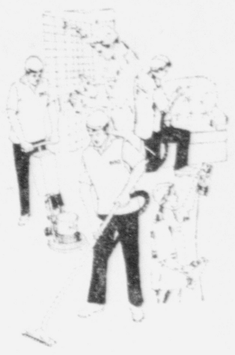

Mrs. Cris said she got into personnel entirely by accident. When her exhusband's business failed, she went out looking for work. One of the first places where she applied was an employment agency. The boss who interviewed her — not the male chauvinist who came later in her career — liked her so much he hired her himself.

"I placed 10 persons in jobs the first week," she recalls, "and that's why Jan got in the habit of asking that monotonous question every night."

Farm gear firm's yearly sales up 18%

MOLINE, Ill. (UPI) — Deere and Co. Tuesday reported its sales for the year ending Oct. 31 increased 18 per cent over the previous year and earnings rose 9 per cent despite a fourth quarter decline in earnings of 25 per cent.

Worldwide sales of farm and industrial equipment and consumer products totaled $2.96 billion in 1975 compared with $2.5 billion in 1974. Net income this year was $179.1 million or $6.05 per share compared with $164.3 million and $5.55 per share.

Earnings for the fourth quarter were $41.4 million or $1.39 per share compared with $51.7 million or $1.74 per share a year ago.

The Moline company blamed the earnings dip in the fourth quarter to lower production schedules, foreign exchange losses, and the impact of higher costs which accrued in October and November.

Deere and Co. has launched the largest capital expenditure program in its history, the report said. Capital expenditures in 1975 were $215 million compared with $129 million in 1974. A substantial part of the program is to provide increased capacity for existing and new products including larger-sized farm tractors and combines and the expanded line of industrial equipment products, the company said.

Allstate to raise rates by 12.5%

NORTHBROOK ill. (UPI) — Allstate Insurance Co., one of the nation's largest, will begin steps to increase homeowner and car insurance rates in January with raises averaging 12.5 per cent in many states, a spokesman said.

A spokesman confirmed that Archie M. Boe, Allstate chairman ,told Chicago financial analysts this week Allstate would be increasing rates in "all lines of liability" early in 1976.

The increases will be in addition to the 20 per cent rate raise the company has put in since 1974 because of heavy underwriting losses resulting from rising medical and auto repair costs.

A spokesman said the rates will go up "in many states" with the average increase 12.5 per cent. He said he had no details for individual states.

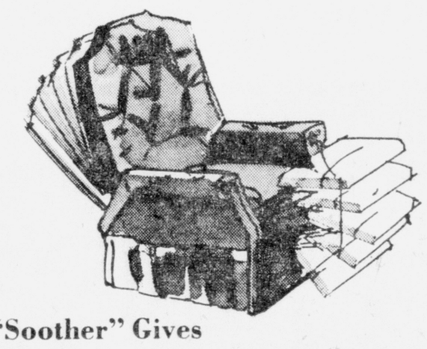

"We will begin in early January," the spokesman said, "with implementation hoped for by May."

The increases will be undertaken on a state-by-state basis, the spokesman said.

Midas expands facilities to meet need

Foreign car service demand up

Foreign car sales in the U.S. significantly influence the automotive aftermarket, said Ralph J. Weiger, president of the Midas International Corp., an IC Industries Co.

Weiger said the Chicago firm completed a $2 million engineering and tooling project and expansion of facilities to cope with the demand for foreign car service.

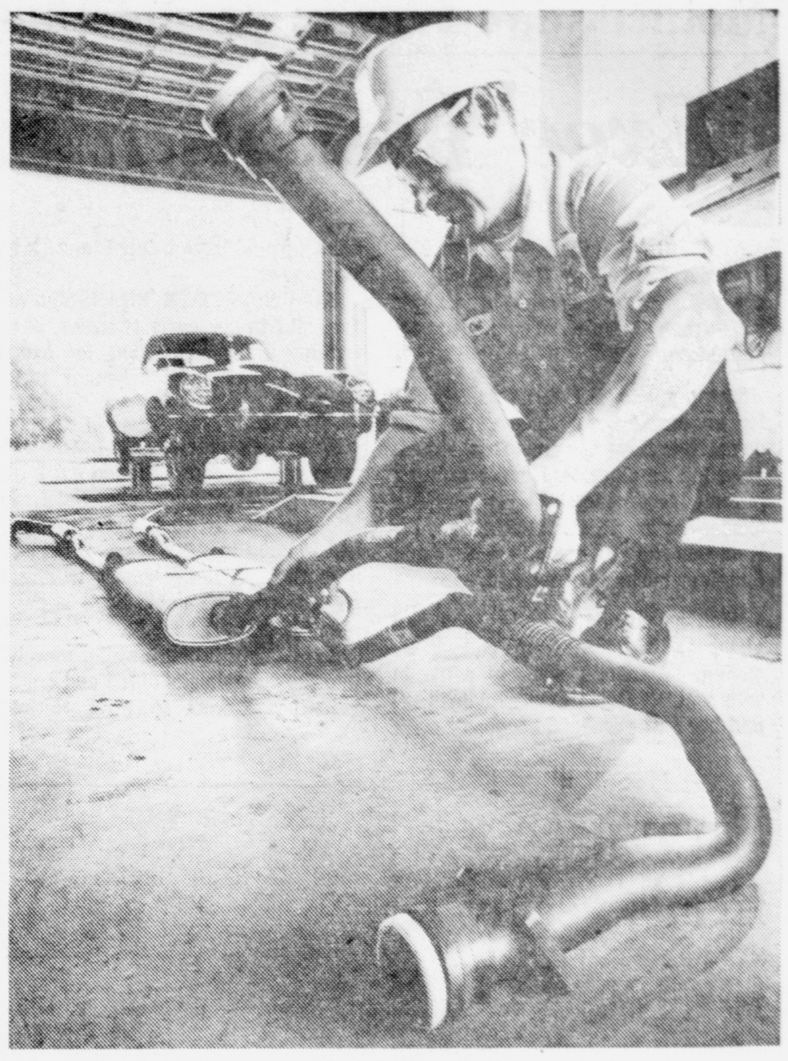

"Until now, our company, as well as the entire automotive aftermarket — and ultimately, the consumer — has been at the mercy of foreign manufacturers and importers," Weiger said. "Quite frankly, there never has been nor is there today a foreign source that can compete with a domestic manufacturer in product quality and the capability to get the product to the consumer when it is needed.

"TRADITIONALLY, the foreign car owner has turned to his new-car dealership for exhaust system service because he has had no alternative. Less than two out of five service stations and repair shops even work on foreign models ,our research shows. With our just-completed expansion program, Midas is now the only national chain to offer an alternative as well as the only network of service centers that specialize in foreign car exhaust system replacement.

As of January 1, 1975, there were 11.1 million foreign cars operating in the U.S. These vehicles constitute a substantial market for exhaust replacement as nearly three quarters or eight million plus are over two years old, Weiger said.

"Furthermore, 1976 should be a banner import car service year because 1.7 million imports were registered in 1973, which equals the biggest year import car sales have ever had. This year, these cars will be two and three years old," he said.

According to Weiger, Midas closely watches the sales popularity of new models in order to predict and plan for the anticipated exhaust system replacement business they'll get several years later.

EXHAUST SYSTEMS for foreign cars, such as the 1970 Jaguar XKE model, represent an increasing share of the U.S. automotive aftermarket, said Ralph Weiger, Midas International.

Paper crunch, con artists cited

Swindlers force end of ornate stocks

by LEROY POPE

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock certificate, often hailed as the archetypal triumph of the engravers' art, has become an arch-villain in the eyes of much of the financial community.

Banks and brokers for some time have wanted to get rid of the fancy certificates because they say their physical transfer is a cumbersome burden that could throttle the whole mechanism of the industry. Physical transfer of stock certificates played a considerable part in the back office "paper crunch" that hit the market a few years ago.

Now there is an urgent new reason to eliminate the stock certificate, says Charles F. Ducie Jr., a vice president of First National Bank of Boston, which is pressing its Transfer Agency Depository System as a method of stock transfer.

He says the ornate certificate is becoming the chief tool used in modern stock swindles.

"STOCK SWINDLING nowadays is largely a matter of counterfeiting stock certificates or of illegally selling by means of misrepresentations of genuine but unregistered shares that are not readily negotiable," he explained. "Both require the use of a stock certificate which will impress the buyer or lending bank officer enough so that he doesn't investigate properly."

For example, the SEC has accused an American firm in Geneva of swindling investors, mainly in the United States, of $280 million by selling unregistered stocks through misrepresentations.

The counterfeit stock certificates either are outright forgeries or certificates of nonexistent companies whose names sound almost identical to genuine blue chip firms.

The swindlers have switched to counterfeits and illegal sale to the public of unregistered stock because the old boiler room promotion of new issues just doesn't work any more. The suckers won't buy new issues.

DOING AWAY WITH the stock certificate and using the Transfer Agency Depository System or one very similar to it would deprive the swindler of his stock in trade, Ducie pointed out.

Every bank officer making a loan on stocks and every broker buying or selling stocks is forced by the new system to check every aspect of every deal by instantaneous computer query and that foils the swindler.

However, in selling his TAD system to brokerage houses and banks, Ducie puts more emphasis on its time and money savings and convenience than on foiling swindlers.

"Although stock counterfeiting is a big deal, the regular problems of the industry are more important," he said. Straight economic considerations will dictate the ultimate almost total disappearance of the ornate certificate, he feels. This means that all the millions of genuine stock certificates now in the possession of shareholders ultimately will be surrendered to designated depository institutions.

IN REPLACEMENT the stockholder will get a computer statement from the depositor bank showing his holdings and his most recent transaction in the stock with a taxpayer's identification number.

Ducie said with the TAD system all transactions generally will be complete and statements delivered in about 24 hours. The delivery of stock certificates can take days or even weeks under adverse circumstances.

One obstacle to the spread of the new system, Ducie conceded, is the "Aunt Minnies" who control a lot of the country's wealth and who aren't eager to give up their beautiful stock certificates.

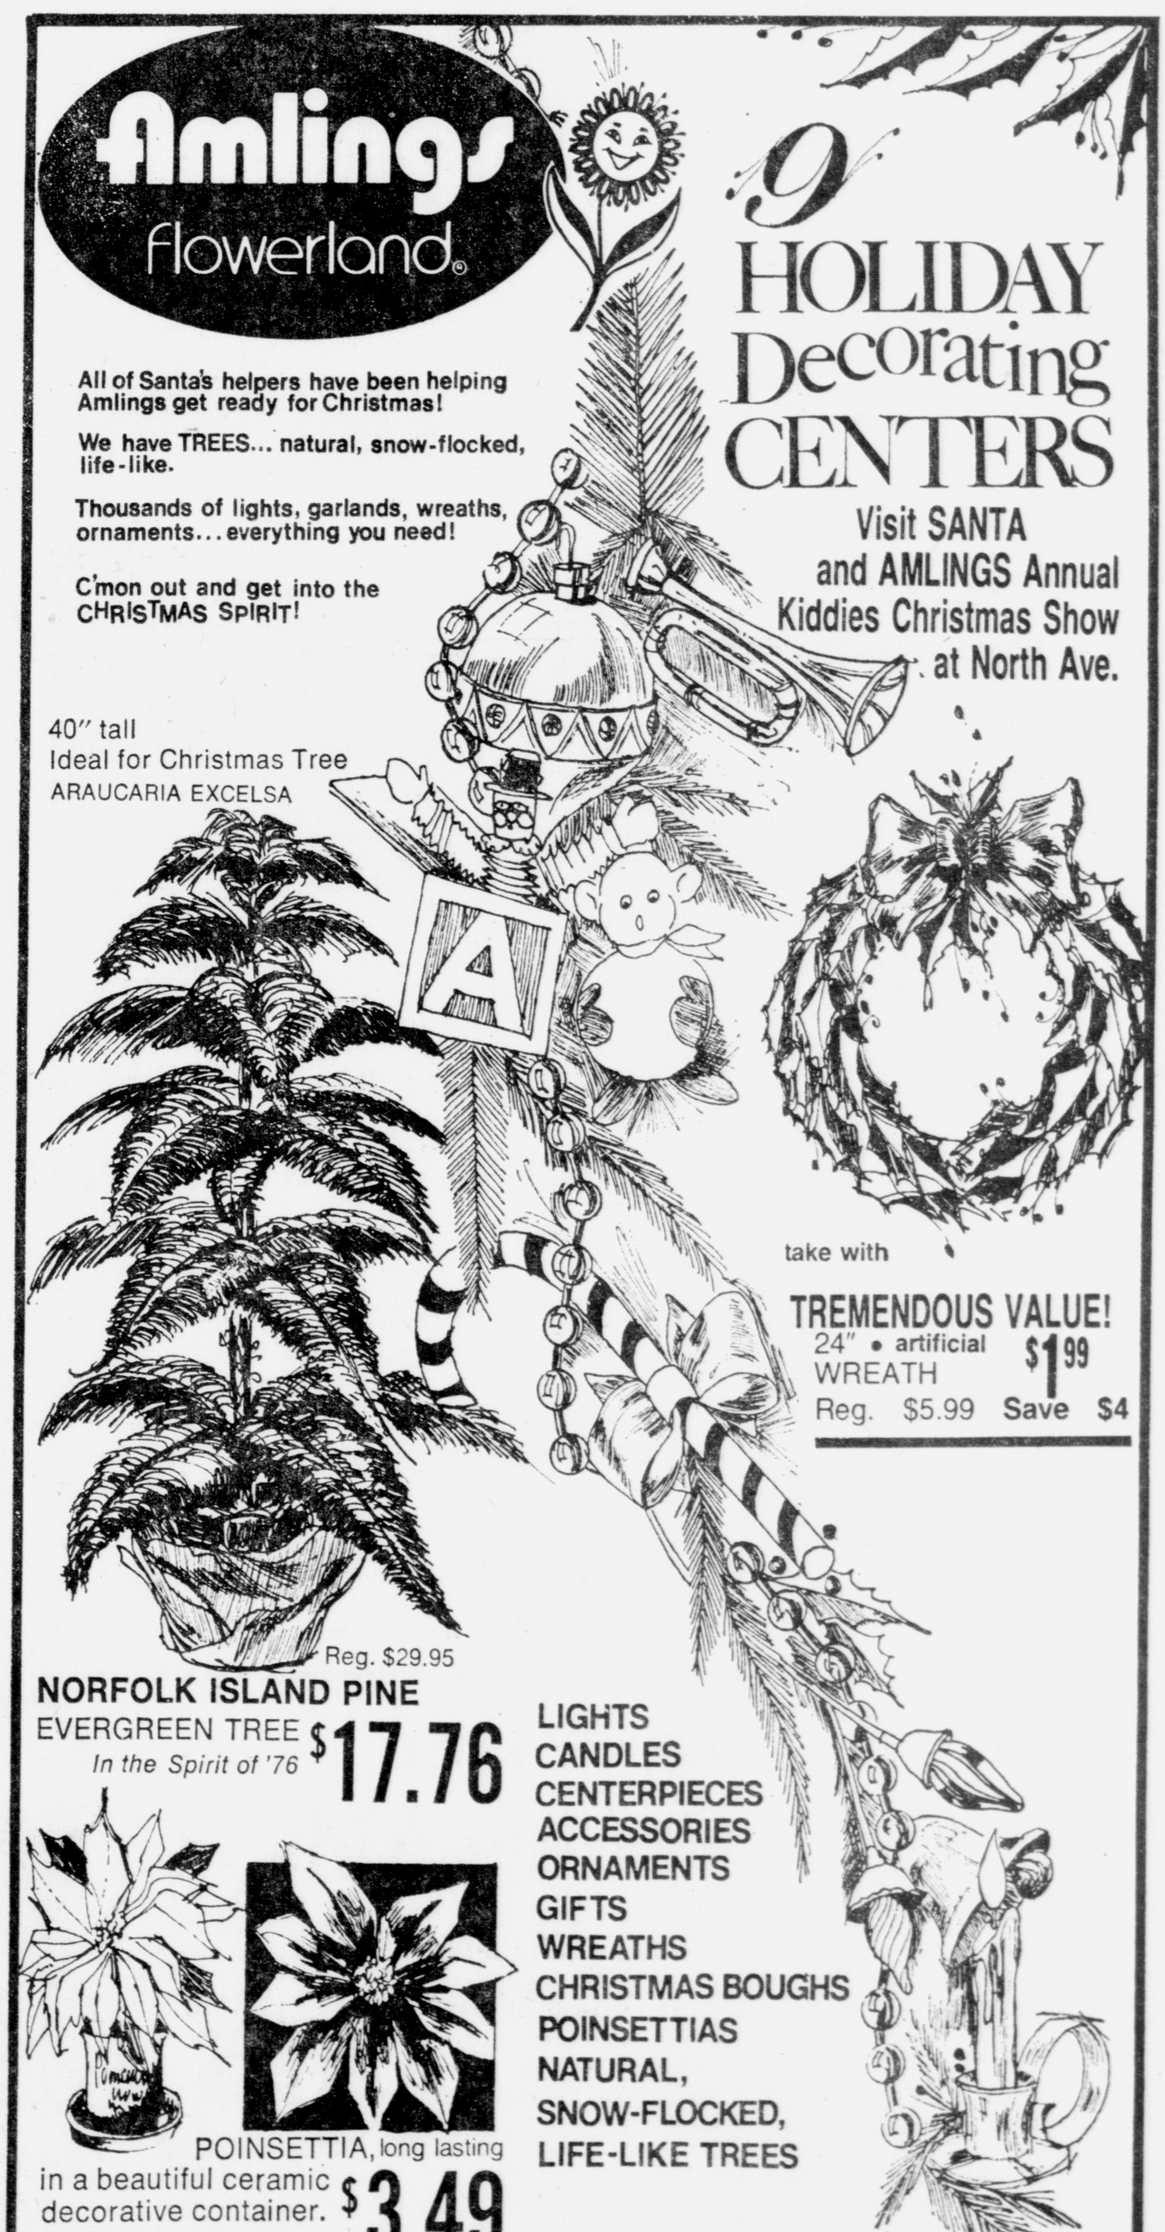

"But the Aunt Minnies aren't stupid," he said. "They'll eventually see the light."

| 5,000 | 1989 |
| 5,000 | 1990 |
| 5,000 | 1991 |

registerable as to principal only and noncallable. Said bonds have been authorized to be issued pursuant to an election held in and for said Sanitary District on June 29, 1968.

Bids submitted by mail should be directed to Nicholas Phillips, Clerk of the Prospect Heights Old Town Sanitary District, 4 North Elmhurst Road, Prospect Heights, Illinois 60070.

The maximum rate of interest to be borne by said Bonds is 6¾% per annum, payable December 1, 1977, and semi-annually on June 1 and December 1, thereafter; and both principal and interest shall be payable at a place mutually satisfactory to the Board of Trustees and the successful bidder.

Bidders must specify the rate or rates of interest for said Bonds, but may not split interest on a single year's maturity, and only one interest coupon shall represent interest on any interest date. Unless all bids are rejected, award will be made to the bidder offering to purchase such bonds at the lowest interest cost to said Sanitary District, to be determined by computing the amount of interest to be paid on the bonds from January 1, 1976, to the respective maturity dates thereof at the interest rate or rates bid, deducting therefrom any premium offered. No bid will be accepted providing for more than four interest rates. The repeat of a rate shall be deemed an additional rate.

Each bidder is requested to designate in his bid the interest cost in dollars, computed at the interest rate or rates stated in his proposal in accordance with said method of computation, and the effective interest rate, but such statement is not to be considered as a part of the bid.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check in the amount of $750.00 payable to the Treasurer of Prospect Heights Old Town Sanitary District, Cook County, Illinois, as a guarantee of good faith to be forfeited to said Sanitary District by the successful bidder as liquidated damages upon his failure to take up and pay for said bonds when ready for delivery. The checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned immediately upon rejection of their bids.

Each bid shall be in a sealed envelope marked "Proposal for Sanitary Sewer Bonds of Prospect Heights Old Town Sanitary District," and all bids will be opened at a meeting of the Board of Trustees at 8:00 p.m. Central Standard Time, on December 18, 1975, at which time the bids will be publicly read and acted upon.

Said bonds are to be issued subject to the unqualified approving legal opinion of Messrs. Chapman and Cutler, Attorneys, Chicago, Illinois, and all bids may be so conditioned. The charges of Chapman and Cutler for said approving legal opinions will be borne by the Purchaser. The Purchaser will be required to furnish and pay for the printed bonds. Delivery to be made as soon as reasonably possible after acceptance of the bid.

The right is reserved to waive technicalities and to reject any and all bids.

The bonds when issued will, in the opinion of counsel, be direct general obligations of this Sanitary District and all the taxable property in the District will be subject to the levy of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds and the principal thereof as same matures, without limitation as to rate or amount.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Paul F. Sandquist, 224 South Marion Street, Oak Park, Illinois 60302 (386-5034).

This notice is published by order of the Board of Trustees of said Sanitary District.

In wake of UN 'racism' vote

American Jews launch boycott against Mexico

by United Press International

Thousands of American Jewish tourists are boycotting Mexican resort areas because of Mexico's recent vote in the United Nations equating Zionism with racism, a nationwide survey showed Tuesday.

"The Jewish community feels that their only weapon to show the Mexican government their disdain is an economic weapon," said Ed Siegel, owner of Forbes Travel Service in Pittsburgh.

"We've had dozens of cancellations to Acapulco and Mexico City," he said. "The Jewish people tell me they will not go to a country that calls Israel racist."

IN NEW YORK City, Connie Goldmeer, an owner of Celebrity Travel Service, said, "Some people are talking about 75 per cent cancellation, we have total cancellations — everybody who is Jewish has canceled. "Oh," she added, "maybe there are a few still going, but it is almost total. A lot of people who are in sympathy have cancelled."

Shortly after the Nov. 10 U.N. vote, David M. Blumbert, president of B'Nai B'rith, announced in New York City:

"In reviewing our travel program, we have cancelled scheduled tours to Mexico and Brazil and we're considering similar action suspending encouragement of tourism to those countries whose governments refuse to take a stand against political anti-Semitism."

Richard Cohen, a spokesman for the American Jewish Congress, said Tuesday, "We have suspended our 1976 travel programs to Mexico." Cohen said this included 22 tours of nearly 1,000 members of the AJC.

"From everything we've seen, our people don't want to go to Mexico," he said.

In Mexico City, officials indicated there had been at least 30,000 tourist cancellations since the U.N. vote Nov. 10.

LUCIO MONTERO, director and manager of the Mexican Hotel and Motel Association, said he feared tourist losses "may be irreparable."

He said Acapulco, Mexico City, Guadalajara and Puerto Vallarta — the nation's main tourist spots — were the most vulnerable, and that Acapulco had been the hardest hit.

The vote itself, and the resulting uproar it caused, has forced Mexican government leaders to reassess their decision to back the resolution, the Mexico City morning newspaper El Universal said Tuesday.

The paper said that Mexico has made a "180 degree turn" in its foreign policy position following Foreign Secretary Emilio O. Rabasa's statement in Tel Aviv that "Zionism is not racism."

On Dec. 1, Rabasa left suddenly for Israel. After a weeklong visit, which included talks with top government leaders, he announced,

"I CAN SAY THAT there is no discrimination in Israel and, where there is no discrimination a racist state cannot exist," he said.

In city after city around the United States, travel agencies and Jewish groups reported growing bitterness against Mexico.

In Memphis, Tenn., Jack Lieberman, executive director of the Memphis Jewish Community Relations Council, said, "There are national tours which we are part of and we have several national organizations that have planned trips to Mexico. The local organizations here are pressuring the national organizations to cancel their tours."

In Miami, Ben Volpe of Volpe Tours, whose clients are 90 per cent Jewish, said he had "a lot" of cancellations.

He said the same day after the U.N. vote, two couples came in and cancelled Mexico tours, forfeiting $200 penalty for late cancellation, and then paid over $500 more each to go to Hawaii instead.

ONE OF THE MEN, Martin Silver, told Bon Voyage, "We'd feel guilty if we spent that money in Mexico, where we're not welcome. That vote was anti-Semitic."

In Dallas, Harry R. Rosen, executive director of the Dallas Jewish Community Center, said the boycott idea had been heavily discussed.

"The trend seems to be to retract any plans for trips that individuals or communities are directing to Mexico or any other country that voted for the United Nations issue or who abstained from it," he said.

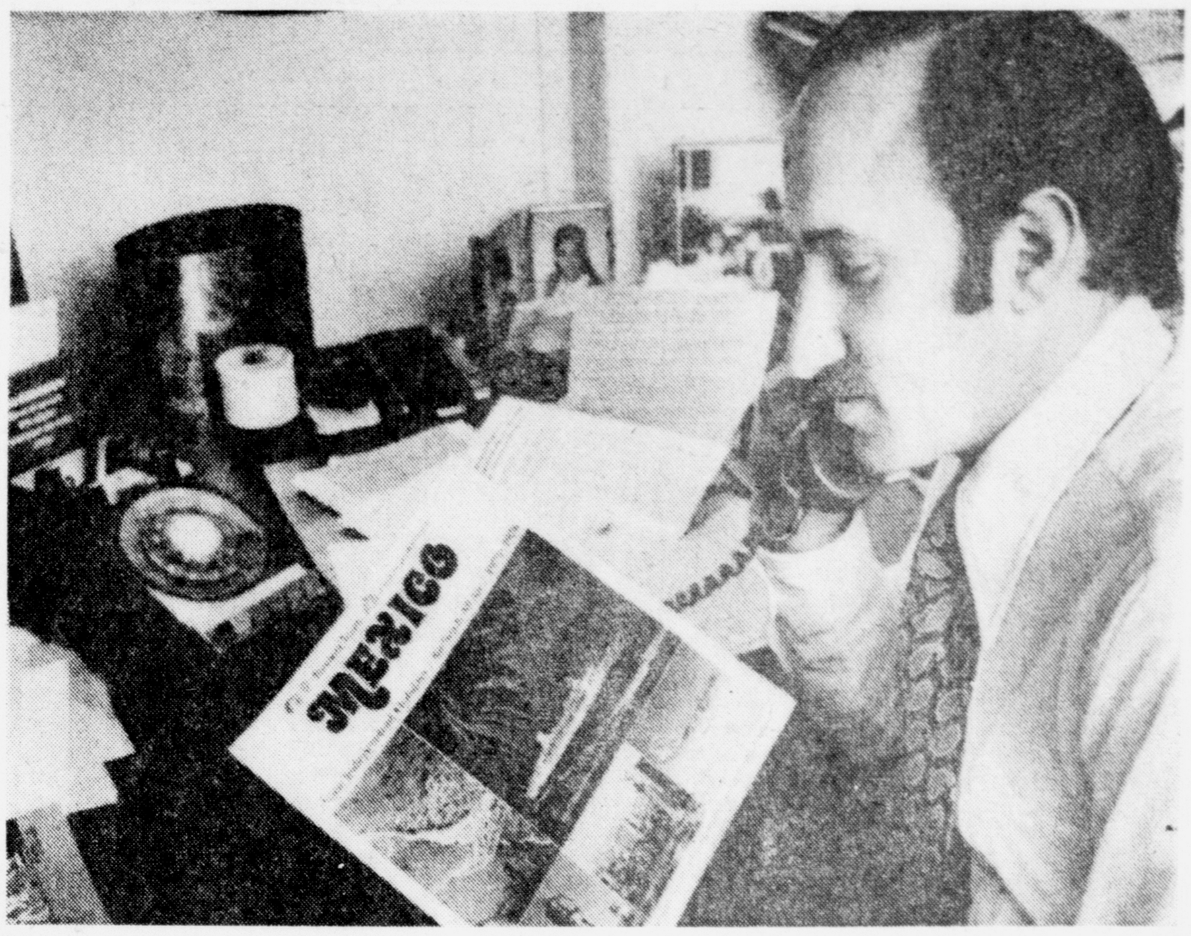

In San Francisco, Rita Semel, co-director of the San Francisco Jewish Community Relations Office, which represents all the moderate Jewish groups in the area said,

"We have not organized a boycott. No Jewish organization has organized a boycott. But we understand that many Jews have cancelled trips to Mexico and many other people have too.

SHE SAID JEWISH friends had told her they cancelled — "They felt there was no reeson to go there."

In Philadelphia, an official of the Northeast Agency said, "Oh, sure, we've had cancellations, but also some people who are still going."

He added, however, that cancellations were running 75 per cent.

THOUSANDS OF Jewish tourists are boycotting Mexican resort areas because of Mexico's recent vote in the UN equating Zionism with racism. Ed Siegel of the Forbes Travel Agency, Pittsburgh, has been flooded by calls from Jewish tourists canceling their reservations to Mexico.

Frantic Francis challenges the legend of 'Sir John'

Jim Murray

Francis Asbury Tarkenton, position, starting upstart for the Minnesota Vikings, has always been a player who drove NFL purists into mouth-frothing rage. But this time he's gone too far.

Frantic Francis, who plays quarterback like a Keystone Kop or a guy fleeing a bank heist, has just joined an unenviable fraternity. He is now at one with the ages with Gene Tunney, Sandy Saddler, Roger Maris, Henry Aaron and the guy who shot Jesse James. He will have a hard time living it down. He joins a company of people who have knocked over a legend and who come out in history like a guy who would attack a statue with a hammer or put his feet on a Chippendale.

You have to understand, in the little world of football, the name John Unitas is up for sainthood. If he were English, it would be "Sir John." He's on a pedestal. You talk of him in awed whispers. You take your hat off passing his house. You go to one knee in front of his picture. Laid end-to-end, his passing yardage would criss-cross the country like Route 66. He once threw three touchdown passes in 47 straight games. The only thing in sports that can touch that is DiMaggio's 56-game hitting streak.

But the thing that Johnny U did best was, He Stayed In The Pocket. He was a classic standup passer. He was like an English fighter. He played the game The Way It Should Be Played.

The first time Francis Tarkenton showed up in the pro-set, T, The Establishment couldn't have been more shocked if someone had showed up in the Vatican in shorts. The first time Francis took the ball, he looked as if he were going to run home with it. He looked like a guy stealing a loaf of bread. He not only ran out of the pocket, he damn near ran out of the stadium.

The pros had never seen this before and the gnashing of teeth was coast to coast. Pro quarterbacks are supposed to play the position as if it were set in concrete. A good pro quarterback looks like a statute of Beethoven with a football.

The fraternity had one comfort: running around that way, Francis wouldn't last long. (Of course, neither would the fat old parties of the front four who had to chase him week-to-week.) Francis, went the theory, would be in traction or a wheelchair by the fourth game. That was 16 years and 7,000 scrambles ago. Francis Takenton has started every single NFL game since that time and still has all his legs and eyes and ears, fingers, toes and teeth.

A typical diagram of a Tarkenton play would look like a drawing of a constellation in the Southern skies or a Rube Goldberg How-To-Make-A-Touchdown invention. Francis pioneered the 3-minute pass completion. Pocket quarterbacks estimate they have 3.5 seconds to get rid of the football. Francis figures he has 60 minutes. "Some day he's going to take the ball on the first play of the game from scrimmage and run out the clock," darkly predicted his former coach Dutch Van Brocklin, who felt a quarterback running was a crime against nature like a horse talking or a lion lisping.

You have to remember Francis was on an expansion team, the last such to win its first league game (37-13). It won three games and scored more points (285) than most expansion teams score in a decade. But the pocket they asked Francis to operate out of frequently was torn. It was not a safe place to keep your money — or the football.

Van Brocklin finally wearied of his Tom-and-Jerry cartoon quarterbacking dealt Francis off to the New York Giants. The Giants didn't care if their quarterback left the state with the football so long as he occasionally found receivers. Tarkenton took a 1-12 team and turned it into a 7-7 and, ultimately, a 9-5 team. It should be noted the Giant running attack consisted of Fran Tarkenton but he was always breaking the Commandments — "thou shalt not run out of the pocket," "Thou shalt not win by scrambling," and the Giants soon dealt their sinner back to Minnesota while they went back to 2-and-12 football.

Meanwhile a funny thing was happening over in that funny little other league — quarterbacks began to roll out and pockets began to move up and down the line of scrimmage. You couldn't play quarterback in high cuts anymore. The old set-plant-count-to-three-and-fire! quarterback was as obsolete as the double wing. The other league suddenly had 14 Tarkentons. And all the Super Bowl trophies they could carry.

Tarkenton took the Vikings to two Super Bowls in a row but, in the first one, the Miami Dolphins scored 7 points before the Vikings ever got the football and 14 points before Takenton had it for three downs. Wen he got the football, it had been spiked twice.

Last year, Tarkenton tore his soulder muscle loose in Game 3. "I couldn't throw the ball more than 10 yards on the fly without screaming. If it wasn't for Butazolidin I couldn't have lifted the football." Nevertheless, only one quarterback in the league threw for more yards. "It proves," laughed Francis the other day, "that the arm is only a small percentage of quarterbacking. Even when it was 100 per cent, nobody every compared it to Roman Gabriel's."

A series of exercises given him by the Dodgers' Mike Marshall restored the arm. This year, Francis Tarkenton became The Quarterback. He has passed Unitas' record for total completions and soon will pass his record for touchdown completions. All of this is cause for great wailing and anguish from oldtimers. A pro quarterback who has passed for 289 touchdowns and 38,468 yards is tolerable, but one who has RUSHED for 26 touchdowns and 3,600 yards (and that's only PAST the line of scrimmage) is no member of the club.

The man who said, "I never thought a quarterback should be a statue," is about to become one. If they put him in the Hall of Fame at Canton, at least the eyes ought to move. If they want authenticity they will put it on rollers. And, every night, they'll come in and find Deacon Jones or Merlin Olsen looking around to see where it went.

Cougars tip Knights; Saxons win

by CHARLIE DICKINSON

Brian O'Donnell went into orbit Tuesday night and took the Conant Cougars with him, up into the rarefied atmosphere of first place in the Mid-Suburban League's South Division, as they snapped the Prospect Knights' 15-game MSL winning streak 53-48 to go 2-0 in the league.

"I told Mike (Frisch, Conant's regular starting forward who will be out 4-6 weeks with a broken wrist) yesterday that Brian was going to tear them up tonight," said Conant head honcho Dick Redlinger. "And, by golly, he sure did. We were putting two men on him in practice and they couldn't stop him."

O'Donnell dazzled the defending conference champs inside with 15 points in the first half and 24 for the game.

He also teamed with Ron Sulaski and sophomore Ed MacDonald to hammer the Knights on the backboards, limiting Prospect to only 17 caroms for the night.

"We killed them on the boards," Redlinger said. "We won it with patience, hustle and by making our free throws."

The charity stripe did prove to be the difference as the Knights tallied an extra field goal. Chris Etter fired in 15 points to lead Bill Slayton's crew before he fouled out in the fourth period. Mike Wood added 10 points for Prospect.

MacDonald was something of a surprise starter, filling in for the injured Frisch, and he reacted to the pressure of varsity ball splendidly, hitting for seven points.

More importantly, MacDonald rammed home two big baskets in the closing minutes as Prospect scrambled to stay alive. The score had been knotted five times in the teeter-totter game before Conant took the lead for good at 44-42, with six minutes remaining, on two Sulaski free throws.

The 6-5 Sulaski pumped for 10 points as Conant's other double figure performer.

"We've already beaten Elk Grove, the team we thought was going to be number one," Redlinger noted. "If we play the way we did tonight there is no reason why we can't win the South Division."

Schaumburg 2-0

by ART MUGALIAN

Schaumburg's little junior guard Bill Solik helped lead his team out of Elk Grove's fullcourt forest in the final minutes of play as the Saxons held on for a 61-55 victory over the Grenadiers in their South division battle at Schaumburg. The Saxons are 2-0.

Solik, a 5-10 playmaker who had never started a varsity game until two weeks ago, contributed two free throws, a key steal, and some gutsy ballhandling to fend off Elk Grove's swarming pressure in the closing moments.

The charity markers came at the :58 juncture and gave Schaumburg a 59-55 lead after Grenadier free throws by Mark Smith and Dave Hornacek cut the edge to two.

Elk Grove, now 3-2, but 0-2 in the MSL, had whittled Schaumburg's halftime margin of 12 points behind the 19-point performance of Smith and 17 by Hornacek. And the Grens' defense was beginning to take its toll.

"We really had to move the ball to get it inside," said Breault, "and we didn't do a very good job of it."

Elk Grove set out to stop Schaumburg's 6-6 soph John Chmiel — and the Grens accomplished their goal. Solik managed to find big Chmiel under the bucket just once. The remainder of Chmiel's nine baskets came on offensive rebounds.

"They just killed us on the offensive boards," said Elk Grove coach Bill Parmentier. "I thought we defensed Chmiel pretty well, but I see he had 21 points anyway."

Chmiel, with 11 rebounds, and Dan Breen (seven) carried the load of Schaumburg's board work while Jon McIlraith spent most of the game on the bench in foul trouble. McIlraith had 14 points, 12 in the first half, before fouling out.

The Saxons opened up a 20-10 first-period lead and never relinquished it. Three first-quarter baskets by Ed Chmiel and three by McIlraith came while Elk Grove concentrated its defensive efforts on big Chmiel.

"I told the kids beforehand that I felt whoever controlled the first three minutes of the game would win it," moaned Parmentier later.

Hersey coasts

by JIM COOK

Hersey exploded for back-to-back, 24-point quarters in the first half to help throttle Forest View, 81-67, in a Mid-Suburban League cross-divisional clash.

With king-sized front-liners 6-5 Clyde Glass, 6-5 Tom Burzak and 6-8 Jay McDermott patrolling the boards at both ends of the floor by a decided 48-23 margin, the Huskies rocketed to a 28-point advantage at 64-36 midway through the third period before coasting home with their fourth triumph in six decisions.

'The big guys were moving well in the first half," Hersey coach Roger Steingraber admitted. 'McDermott is going to make some noise before this season's over."

Burzak was first to rival the sound barrier with 6-for-6 shooting and a dozen-point opening period, including a well-executed layup off the fast-break opening tip and the final two Huskie buckets in the first quarter on aggressive offensive rebounds.

"We thought we'd zone them tonight since we knew we were at a distinct size disadvantage," Forest View coach Ted Wissen said. "But we still couldn't keep them away. They're a fine ball club."

McDermott, a rusty-haired skyscraper who shared his team's scoring honors with Burzak at 18, counted half his total in the second quarter on 3-of-4 from the field as Hersey strutted to a 48-28 lead at the intermission.

The Falcons, with Jim O'Rourke pumping in 20 points, continued their relentless hustle and full-court press to whittle the deficit to 13 against Hersey's substitutes in the final eight minutes.

"We're going to have some balance this year," Steingraber remarked while adding Glass' 10 and 13 by Tom Frye to the list of double-figure scorers.

Meadows triumphs

by BOB GALLAS

Rolling Meadows coach Bill Weinberg is learning that bigger isn't necessarily better.

A revamped and smaller Meadows lineup was successful for the second time in a row as the Mustangs combined a hot-shooting second quarter and aggressive rebounding to sink the Hoffman Estates Hawks, 53-47.

Outrebounding the Hawks 42 to 25, a hot second quarter, which saw Meadows dump in 10 shots, all from within the lane, was all the Mustangs needed. The Hawks rallied late after a horrendous fourth quarter shooting slump to come within two points with 38 seconds left in the game, but a breakaway layup and two free throws iced it for the Mustangs.

The Hawks opened in a 1-3-1 zone defense, the same type of defense that gave the Mustangs fits in an earlier game against Fenton this year, but Meadows penetrated easily after shaking off a cold 3 for 13 shooting first period.

"That's the first time this year we've handled the zone," said Weinberg. "We're more aggressive with this smaller lineup."

"We adjusted inside and had them where we wanted them," said Hawk coach Jerry Segebrecht. "We stayed close, they were letting us have the one shot, but we just weren't hitting it," he said. "And they hurt us inside."

Though they had only scored three points in the fourth quarter with only 1:30 left, the Hawks were still close, thanks to cold Meadows shooting, in the final period.

Meadows hit only 33 per cent from the floor, but stayed in the game by hitting 15 of 23 free throws. Hoffman fared little better, hitting only 35 per cent from the floor and 9 for 14 from the free throw line.

Steve Duffy of the Mustangs led all scorers with 18 points. Jerry McGill chipped in with 14 for Meadows. Steve Foster paced the losers with 16 points.

Will Sox stay? Confident Veeck arrives in Florida

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — Bill Veeck said Tuesday he has beaten the deadline imposed on him by the American League in his bid to keep the White Sox in Chicago.

Veeck had until Wednesday to come up with $1.2 million more than when he made his original presentation. He was scheduled to arrive at the annual baseball meetings here late Tuesday night with the necessary cash in hand.

Veeck, fearful that the league might try to change the ground rules at the last minute, got a backup guarantee from wealthy Chicago insurance executive W. Clement Stone. But Veeck insisted that Stone is not part of the group that will operate the White Sox.

"I'll reveal who the members are when I appear before the league," Veeck said.

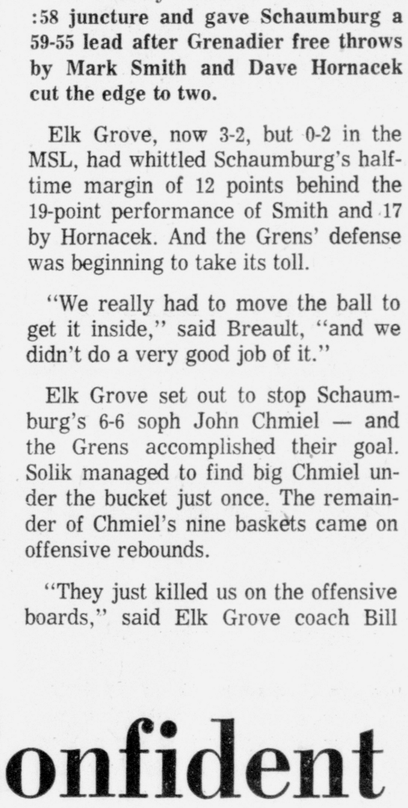

White Sox president John Allyn said he saw no further roadblock in Veeck's path and said that if the league wants "just a little more money, I'm willing to absorb that myself."

Another group, headed by comedian Danny Kaye and Lester Smith, wants to move the White Sox to Seattle.

Allyn said Smith told him that if the league should turn down Veeck's proposal, he is ready to present Allyn with a check for $10 million.

Kaye, who has been here since Monday, was still hopeful Tuesday that he and Smith may yet get the White Sox. "We're just waiting to see what happens," said Kaye. "Right now, we're as much in the dark as everyone else."

Apparently Kaye and Smith would have gotten the White Sox if they had not wanted to move the team to Seattle. The effort by Veeck to keep the team in Chicago bogged down because the league was concerned whether his group had sufficient financial backing to keep the near-bankrupt White Sox solvent.

BILL VEECK

Stone enters picture—just in time

CHICAGO (UPI) — Multimillionnaire W. Clement Stone revealed Tuesday he has agreed to back Bill Veeck in his effort to comply with American League requirements for Veeck to purchase the Chicago White Sox.

Veeck would not confirm that Stone had joined his group, but said, "if Stone says he has, that's good."

Veeck now must appear before the American League owners and to present evidence he had met the requirements laid down for him a week ago when the owners refused to approve his purchase.

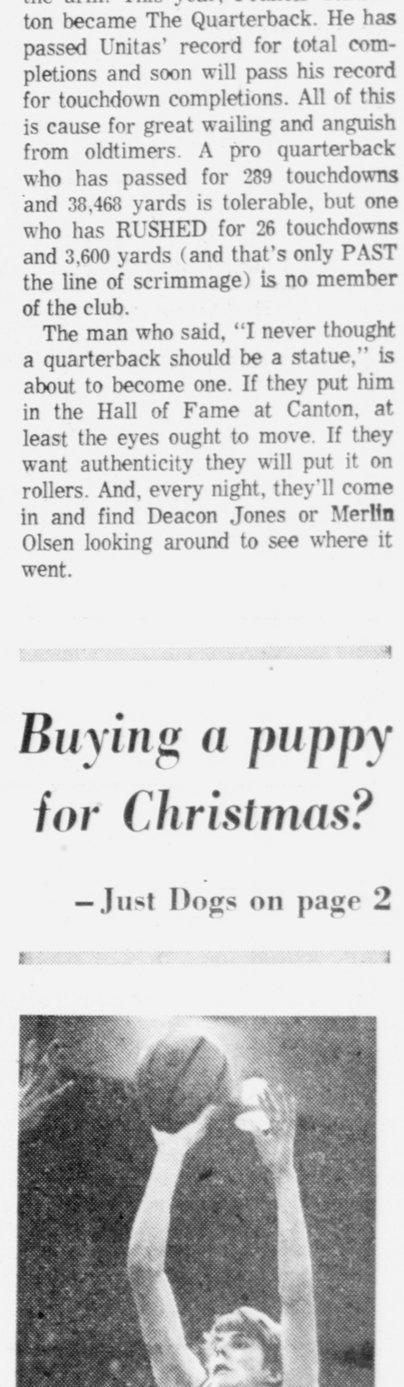

The new requirements forced Veeck to eliminte debentures from his offer and include an additional $1.2 million. Veeck said he would not know whether he had met the demands of the league until he gets into the meeting.

Stone, chairman of the board of Combined Insurance Co. of America, with a fortune reputedly in the hundreds of millions, would not reveal what amount of cash he would put into the Veeck syndicate. He said he was joining the group because "we can't let the White Sox leave Chicago."

Stone is an advocate of possession of a positive mental attitude to ensure an individual's well-being in personal and professional life.

Harper falters at Rock Valley

Special to The Herald

A familiar cold spell hit Harper's basketball team at Rock Valley Tuesday night, negating Jim Arden's dazzling offensive display as the Hawks succumbed to the Trojans, 78-66.

Arden slammed in 10 of 16 shots from the field and finished with 26 points for the night to cop game scoring honors. But it went for a losing cause — Harper's fifth setback in six tries over-all — when the hosts surged from behind into a commanding lead late in the second half.

"These cold spells have been disatrous," shrugged Hawk pilot Roger Bechtold. "We seem to hit a three-four minute period in every game where the lid goes on the basket and a rash of turnovers and costly mistakes are committed, wiping out an otherwise solid team performance."

Tuesday's spell occurred with about five minutes remaining in the game and Harper owning a slight edge after trailing by seven at halftime. A 46-34 Trojan command of the boards also helped send the guests down to their third straight conference loss.

Scott Green and Steve Loughman were Harper's other double figure scorers with 10 points each. Kevin Lavin added eight more to the Hawk effort.

Rumor Monday going to Orioles

The Baltimore Orioles and Chicago Cubs were reportedly close to a major trade that would involve centerfielder Rick Monday and lefthanded pitcher Ross Grimsley as principals at the baseball winter meetings in Hollywood, Fla., Tuesday.

The Orioles, who will likely unload veteran designated hitter Tommy Davis before the conclusion of these meetings, are seeking Monday so they can free their current left fielder, Don Baylor, for DH duties next season. The Cubs, meanwhile, are desperate for a lefthanded starter — hence their interest in Grimsley.

"We can't be too choosy as to who we get," said Cub spokesman when asked why Grimsley, who has a penchant for serving up Gopher balls, would be an asset in the cozy quarters of Wrigley Field. "Grimsley is still a good pitcher. He has had quite a few good seasons and we feel he can help us. The fact is, we've got to come up with a lefthander here."

Besides Monday and Grimsley, other names being tossed around as part of the Cubs-Orioles package deal include a pair of promising Baltimore minor leaguers, shortstop Tim Norbrook and outfielder Bob Bailor.

In trades that became reality yesterday, St. Louis sent pitcher Ron Reed to Philadelphia for outfielder Mike Anderson. It was the Cardinals second trade in as many days. Also, Cleveland traded catcher John Ellis to Texas for relief pitcher Stan Thomas and third baseman-catcher Ron Pruitt.

Bears to start new center; 4 Cardinal starters hurting

Center Dan Peiffer of the Chicago Bears had surgery Tuesday to remove cartilage from his right knee and will not play Sunday against the St. Louis Cardinals. Dan Neal will start.

Two other Bears, defensive tackle Roger Stillwell and offensive tackle Lionel Antoine, were listed as probable. Stillwell had a hip injury and Antoine an injured foot.

Four Cardinals were listed as probable, tight end Jackie Smith with a knee injury, linebacker Mark Arneson with a hand injury, wide receiver Earl Thomas with a knee injury, and running back Steve Jones with a thumb injury.

The Cardinals' do-everything running back — Terry Metcalf — has recovered from the bruised hip sustained Sunday and is expected to play against the Bears. He needs just 109 yards to tie a National Football League record held by Mack Herron (2,444). The total offensive yardage mark was set last year.

The Bears reported 5,925 unsold tickets. Unless they are sold by 1 p.m. Thursday the game will be blacked out on local television.

Women's softball league formed

Co-founder Billie Jean King announced Tuesday the formation of an 11-member International Women's Professional Softball League scheduled to begin operation April 30, 1976. King, softball pitcher Joan Joyce and golf professional Jane Blalock are owners of the Connecticut franchise. Other league charter members are Buffalo, Pennsylvania, Boston, Michigan, San Jose, Portland, Ore.; Phoenix, San Diego, Los Angeles and Orange County, Calif. Dennis Murphy, the co-founder who will be president of the new league, said there was a possibility more cities would be added as he set a Dec. 31 dateline for admittance.

No ruling on Indiana's law suit

A law suit filed by basketball coach Bobby Knight of top-ranked Indiana against the NCAA was returned to Monroe Superior Court Tuesday when a federal judge ruled it did not fall within his jurisdiction. Knight's suit challenged an NCAA rule limiting traveling squads to 10 players.

Toledo quarterback Gene Swick went into the NCAA record books as the all-time career total offense record holder with 8,074 yards in passing and rushing, surpassing the 7,887 yards by Stanford's Jim Plunkett in 1968-70. Swick produced 2,706 yards this season to become the national champion in final rankings by the NCAA Statistics Service. He averaged 246 yards passing and rushing . . .

Dallas Cowboy president and general manager Tex Schramm said this weekend's game with Washington will be stopped and a presentation will be made to Charley Taylor if Taylor should break the NFL record for career pass receptions. Taylor needs only three catches to break the career record of 633 currently held by former New York Jets flanker Don Maynard.

The National Football League office played it cool when asked about Buffalo owner Ralph Wilson's charge that his Bills were "absolutely robbed" in their loss to Miami Sunday. "We have had no formal complaint from Wilson," a NFL spokesman said, "but his remarks to the media are known to us. We have had a complete report from (head linesman) Jerry Bergman on the play which concerns Wilson."

Bergman reported to NFL supervisor officials that when Mercury Morris of the Dolphins was tackled in the fourth period of the Bills' 21-31 loss, he flipped into the air and still had possession of the ball when his shoulder hit the ground. Wilson said the ruling cost the Bills a playoff berth.

SHE'S NOT HANDICAPPED. Wendy Stoeker, 15, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., is ranked 11th in state prep diving despite being born without arms. "When you've never had them, it doesn't seem that bad," she says. Using her feet as hands, she can write, drive a car, do tricks on a trampoline and almost everything else.

Just dogs

by Dave Terrill

Plan ahead for Christmas puppy

With Christmas but a few weeks away, some serious thought should have been given by now to the purchase of a new puppy. If the dog is to be a pure-bred, there are some 120 different breeds of dogs recognized by the American Kennel Club.

What is the right breed for a family? In the short run, it is a matter of family preference. But consideration must be given to what size the dog will be when it is fully grown.

Bear in mind that today's roly-poly puppy can grow up to be a big dog in just a few months. You should, therefore, consider where you live and under what conditions the puppy will grow up. It stands to reason that a one-room apartment is not the place for an Irish Wolfhound.

Who will care for and train the new puppy? What about housebreaking and training to the leash? All of this is essential if the puppy is to take its place as a member of the family, and not be a public nuisance.

When buying a pup, it's best to obtain a statement of health and to make the sale conditional, pending an examination by a veterinarian. Any reputable breeder will usually agree to a 24-hour or 48-hour refund period to enable the buyer to have the pup examined.

Above all, don't bring the dog home for the first time on Christmas Day. There will be too much excitement for the pup.

House plants can be poisonous —

These days it seems that everyone is involved with growing plants in the house. During the winter months the green thumb brigade seems to take over and we find all sorts of potted greenery on shelves, tables and window ledges.

Just a word of caution. There are a number of plants that are poisonous to pets and yet are more or less common in every home.

The philodendron vine is perhaps the most popular houseplant going and yet has proven fatal to more than 50 per cent of the cats treated for eating it. The mortality rate for dogs can't be determined, but don't have the plant in a spot that can prove tempting for any animal.

Other plants, such as castor beans, oleander, rhododendron, diffenbachia and some of the spring bulbs that are grown indoors, also can cause problems.

Time to rest —

About that new Christmas puppy, or as a matter of fact, any puppy. Don't exhaust the pup with too much playing or handling.

Puppies need a great deal of rest and they need time to become accustomed to household sounds and routines. Interrupting his sleep and picking him up too often just helps to confuse him in those first few important days in his new home.

Barks & Bays —

Remember, no rich holiday foods for your dog.

IHSA announces tourney locations

The Illinois High School Association announced the sites for the 1976 Class AA state basketball championships and four area schools will be hosting regional tournaments when they begin March 1.

Hoffman Estates, Buffalo Grove, Maine West and Wheeling have been selected as sites for regional play, to be held March 1-3 and 5.

Survivors of the Maine West and Wheeling tournament will gather with winners from Maine South and Niles West at Prospect High School on March 9-10 and 12 for the sectional tournament.

Lynn 1st rookie MVP

Fred Lynn of the Boston Red Sox is the first rookie in the history of the major leagues to win the Most Valuable Player award. The only other rookie who came close was Brooklyn's Pete Reiser, who was runnerup behind teammate Dolph Camilli in the 1941 balloting.

In Paddock Jr. Classic action, Des Plaines National Bank took seven points from Fair Lanes, Hoffman swept their match against Ten Pin, and Wauconda took seven from Beverly, as the race for first place has tightened up. Des Plaines National Bank is in first with 45 points, Fair Lanes in second with 43 points, and Hoffman in third with 40 points.

Des Plaines National Bank moved into first bowling at Ten Pin Bowl. The Bankers took the first game 899 to 829 despite Jim Clemente's 201 for Fair Lanes. Fair Lanes had some hope the second game as Jim Thullen and Jim Clemente both shot 201 but the Bankers pulled it out 921 to 897. In the third game Dana Vickers shot 217 and Steve Fleming shot 207 for Des Plaines National as they won 925 to 858.

Pat Muldowny shot 231 as Hoffman took seven points from Ten Pin. Ten Pin had plenty of trouble starting out with a loss as Hoffman won 910 to 807. Ten Pin had its best chance the second game as they came within 31 pins of Hoffman but lost 934 to 903. Hoffman won the third game 941 to 855 with help from Muldowny's 231.

Wauconda jumped out of their slump as they took seven points from Beverly. Wauconda started out by taking the first game 909 to 833. Wauconda then came back the second game by beating Beverly 926 to 829. Ron Leahy shot 206 the third game but despite this effort Beverly lost 910 to 895.

St. Raymond

St. Raymond basketball teams were active on all fronts during the past week. The Varsity and Jr. Varsity Boys were host to St. Joseph of Libertyville and were triumphant at both levels; the Varsity winning by the margin of 62 to 8, and the Jr. Varsity following up with another win, 50 to 12. The 5th Grade Boys followed the winning example in two separate games, winning in a close game over St. James of Arlington Heights, 21 to 19, and coming back two days later to sweep by their south-side rivals, St. Mary, 30 to 6.

Sunday league games in the Northwest Catholic Athletic Conference held at Lincoln Jr. High School before a large enthusiastic crowd resulted in a set-back by the 6th Grade Boys to St. Joseph of Libertyville, 16 to 12. The 7th Grade Jr. Varsity lost a close game to St. Hubert of Hoffman Estates, 37 to 34, with the lead changing hands many times. The 8th Grade Varsity Boys were victorious, posting their highest point total for the year over St. Hubert, 86 to 27.

The Girls Varsity and Jr. Varsity were also active during the past week. The Varsity visited Our Lady of the Wayside of Arlington Heights and were triumphant, 34 to 27. The 7th Grade Jr. Varsity were not as successful, however, losing to Our Lady of the Wayside 14 to 8, and to St. Ferdinand, 34 to 6.

On Sunday, Dec. 14, St. Raymond Boys will be host to St. Theresa of Palatine at Lincoln Jr. High School. The first game will start at 12:30 p.m.

Girl tackle

Susan Murphy, 13, played defensive tackle for the Anaheim Colts of the Pop Warner Midget football league in 1975. She weighed 88 pounds and was the only girl on the team. When she was 3 and a half years old, Susan stepped on broken glass and severed a nerve that controls feeling in her right leg. She has had four operations and — when she isn't playing football — still wears a brace on the leg during the day.

Let's huddle

Tufts University, which completed its 100th season of football in 1975, lays claim to pioneering the football helmet and the huddle. The huddle came about, Tufts historians say, when the team played a game in 1916 at Indiana University which had such a loud drum and bugle corps Tufts players couldn't hear the quarterback's signals. After pulling the players into a huddle to hear signals better, Tufts rallied to win, 12-10.

Herbert response saves set with this hand

Back in the late '30s, Walter Herbert, the conductor of the New Orleans symphony and a fine bridge player, proposed the Herbert convention. It was hands such as the one shown today that gave Walter his idea. South opens two hearts and North makes the bust response of two notrump.

If South jumps to four hearts and West does not open a spade, South will be held to nine tricks. He will score his honors in rubber bridge. If South raises to three no trump he will be sure of his contract if East holds the ace of spades, if some other suit is led, or if the defense can't take five spade tricks. But the way the cards lie, East leads a spade and three notrump goes down.

Win at bridge

by Oswald and Jim Jacoby

The Herbert convention provides that the next suit is the negative response to a strong two bid. North bids two spades and South can bid three notrump and make it against any lead.

If you do play strong two bids and want to improve your results a trifle, you can adopt the convention. However, you had better make sure that you don't forget it.

Squirrels go (coco)nuts over this gym-feeder

by MARIANNE SCOTT

Researchers tell us that squirrels don't really know where they've buried those nuts, so like the birds, they, too, appreciate a free handout of holiday treats.

Maybe you haven't put the squirrels on your Christmas list, but here's a gift they or your squirrel watcher friends will really dig. It's a combination squirrely gym and squirrely buffet server you can make yourself from coconut shells hung on chains.

The antics and ingenuity of the squirrels as they partake of the buffet make for hours of great squirrel watching. They jump, spin, hang upside down, stretch and bounce, enjoying every minute of the challenge. A really smart squirrel can learn to hoist the shell by drawing up the chain — boatswain style!

Yes, some of the catalogs sell these gyms, but it doesn't take the squirrels long to gnaw through the cords and break the thin fiberglass shells.

TO MAKE your own sturdy gym select coconuts with the thickest shells, those that sound as if there is less milk inside. Drill two holes in the roundest end (like you do for evaporated milk cans), pour off the liquid, then saw off that end. Do not saw without draining or you'll have sticky goo all over the floor.

Scoring the coconut fruit and removing with a sturdy spoon is next. Save the fruit for scrumptious people nibbling.

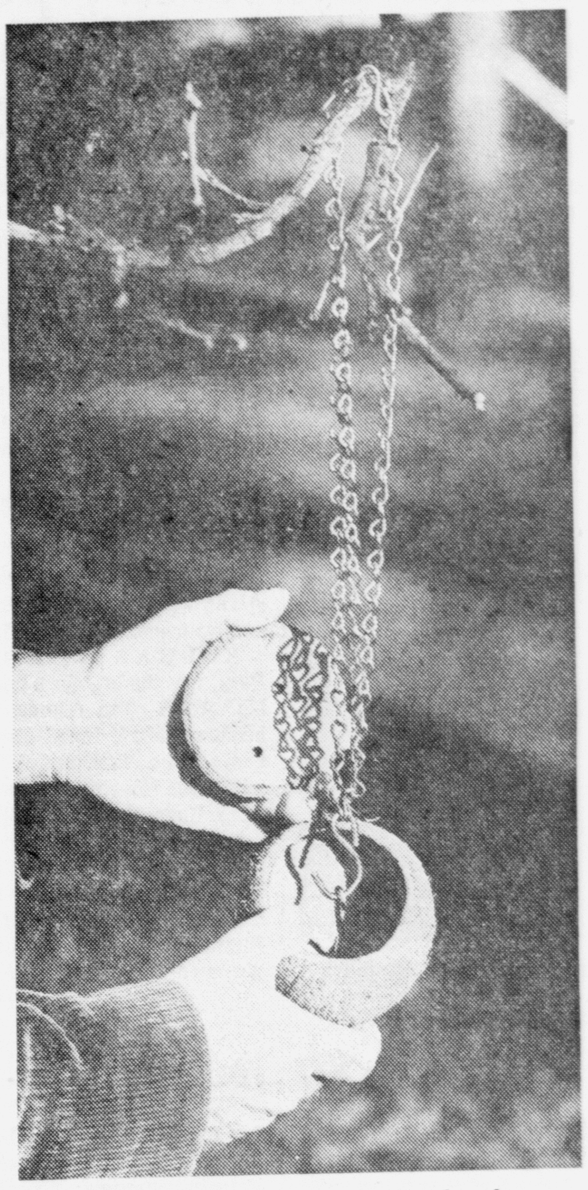

Now, take a very long screw hook — at least three or four inches. Drill a small hole in the center of the closed, pointed end (it's the thickest end), fill with epoxy or good outdoor glue and twist in the screw. The screw hook is now protruding from the inside of the shell with the hook extending past or at least almost reaching the open end of the shell.

Attach chain to the hook and dangle the shell to make sure it hangs plumb and even while the glue is drying. You may wish to shim the hook with wadded newspapers during the drying.

THE CHAIN may be any length you wish. To give extra bounce, our five, hanging at different lengths, are suspended from a rope stretched between two trees. They can also be hung individually from tree branches.

For a holiday touch you can add bells (to alert the squirrel watchers) tied on with red bows.

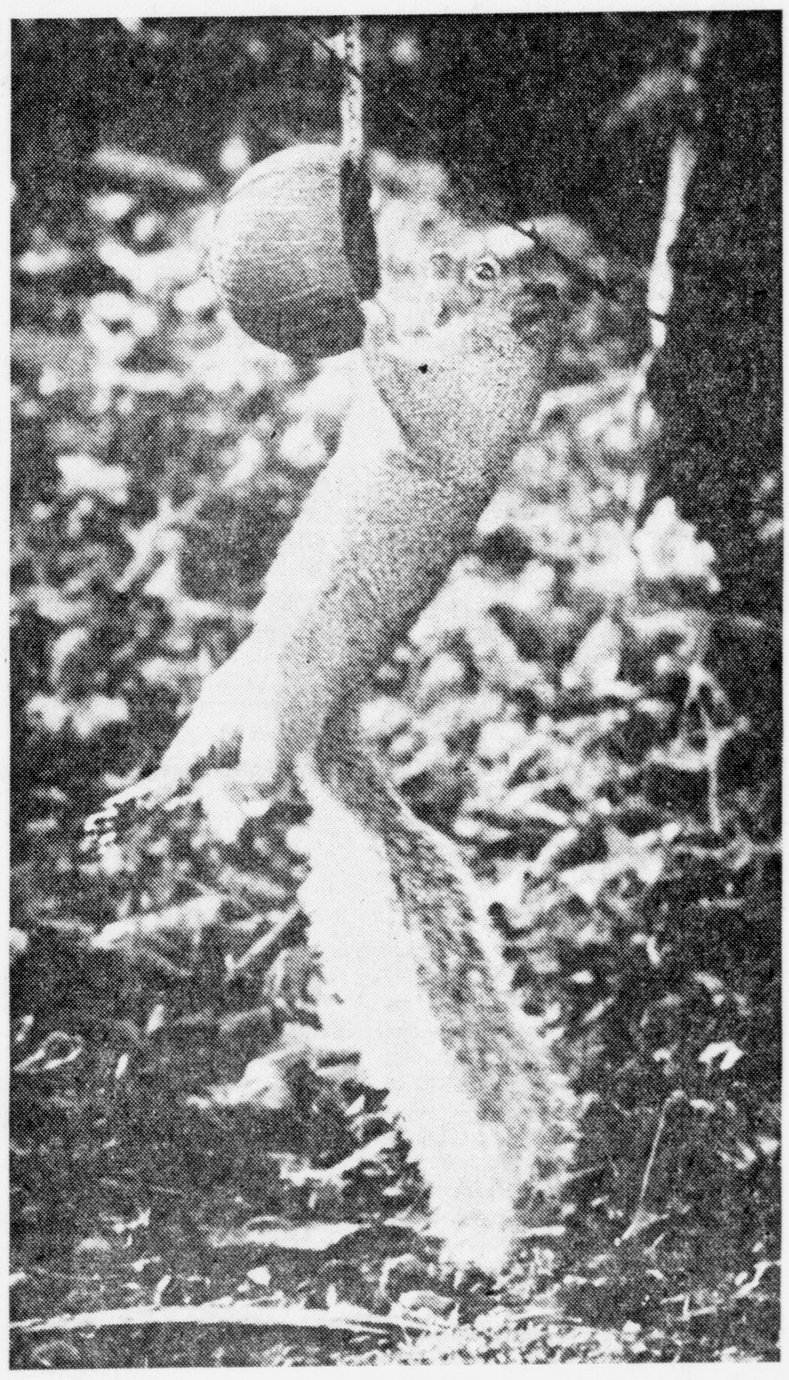

Fill with nuts and get a front row seat for the "show." Birds, too, will enjoy the buffet.

A COMBINATION squirrely gym-feeder for your squirrel friends, or homo sapiens friends who enjoy squirrel watching, is easily made from a sawed-off coconut. Marianne Scott gives instructions in the adjoining article.

Hmm-m-m-m, this looks mighty interesting.

Just checking for any last tidbits.

The lady & the law

by JULIE MARTOCCIO

(Second of two-parts)

Which legal questions are uppermost in a woman's mind? I found the answer to that question several weeks ago when I spoke to a group of women. They represented a cross-section of homemakers with and without children, working wives and mothers, singles and active retired persons.

They were concerned more with the hereafter than the here and now and with good reason. Obviously, we have to plan ahead for a time when we won't be around to express or carry out our wishes and must depend upon someone else to do it.

I answered the question "Does a woman need a will?" and came to the conclusion that since that question has been repeated and answered many times in this column that I should put together a pamphlet on the subject for Herald readers. I am preparing one which will be written in simple, non-legalese language and will let you know when it is available and how you may receive a copy.

In the meantime, I'd like to answer another question that is frequently asked and that was another subject of discussion among the women.

• Why does it take a year or longer to probate an estate?

If you'd like a more detailed (but by no means a complete) answer, you might wish to read "Settlement of an Estate," a column which appeared Oct. 30, 1974. (The Herald library staff in the Arlington Heights office can make a copy for you for 25 cents, or you may go there and read their files.)

In summary, one reason is that there is a nine-month period in which creditors are permitted to file their claims against the estate in question. The second reason is that the executor or administrator has many duties to perform, some enumerated and anticipated, others springing up unexpectedly. The executor who is responsible for handling the estate must be given an opportunity to conduct, in an orderly fashion, the transfer of assets to persons who are entitled to receive them.

Briefly, the executor's duties include gathering assets, paying bills and taxes, negotiating with creditors and claimants, and also, in some instances, selling certain properties in order to distribute the assets. He or she must also defend lawsuits when they arise and this really drags out a probate matter, sometimes for years!

• What if the estate is a small one, does the same procedure have to be followed?

In Illinois if the estate is less than $5,000, you do not have to go through probate. Usually the $5,000 is in a joint bank account and the survivor simply goes to the bank where he or she is asked to sign the proper paper, before withdrawing the funds.

• Has or will any bill be introduced to raise the widow's deduction?

I think you're referring to the federal income tax deduction. If you are, the $60,000 is for everyone and as far as I know there is no change anticipated or in the process of being made.

• How can senior citizens get help or advice on collecting for hospital expenses when Blue Cross refuses for a paltry reason?

With all the fine print a person must read these days in order to function in this complex world, I hate to remind you to do it again with your Blue Cross policy. Believe it or not, you'll probably find the situation explained in it. Blue Cross does not cover everything. For instance, in some instances, you have to be in the hospital 24 hours before you can recover.

If you do not understand your policy, ask to have it explained to you. It is your right to ask. I also suggest that if you are active in a senior citizen group, you form a study group and get a Blue Cross representative or one who understands it to come and explain Blue Cross. Or perhaps a few of you might get together and discuss it among yourselves.

• What should I do if my child is involved in a police action?

If or when it happens, I suggest you call your lawyer immediately. Children are entitled to the same rights as adults and also to be represented by an attorney no matter what the circumstances might be. But any child old enough to travel alone should be instructed: be polite and answer the officer's questions regarding name, address and telephone number, age; ask to call home; do not resist arrest even if it is unlawful. (By the way, no grown-up is entitled to do that either.)

(Readers are invited to submit questions regarding legal problems of women and children. Names and facts that would identify the writer are withheld on request. Attorney Martoccio's column is to inform and not advise. Write to her in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

Women and children first

The history of women

It's told in their needlework

Elizabeth Hiddleson, Bertha Stenge, Prudence Punderson.

These three women are experts and innovators in the needle arts, but their names can't be found in history books, and few museums have any record that they ever lived.

A needlework historian in Pittsburgh thinks the talents of these three needlewomen and thousands of others have gone unnoticed because they lived in a society which has traditionally considered art a manly enterprise unsuitable for women.

Rachel Maines became an avid student of the history of needlework three years ago when she decided to compile a bibliography of it and could find only how-to books and collections of patterns.

"THE ONLY REASON I could find for the almost total absence of any serious discussion of needlework as an art was that it's a woman's art. In that single moment I became a feminist and a needlework historian," Ms. Maines said.

She now teaches a course at the University of Pittsburgh, "Needlework as a History of Women," and has helped found the Center for the History of American Needlework.

In her three years of study, Ms. Maines found one book that reviewed the history of the various forms of needlework: embroidery, crewel, crochet, netting, quilting, macrame and others. It is out of print.

Ms. Maines called the needle-woman a camouflage artist, usually a woman who turned to needlework because society would have laughed if she had said she wanted to paint or sculpt.

"NEEDLEWORK was an acceptable thing for women to do with their time because the product was always functional," Ms. Maines said.

"If a man saw his wife crocheting a bedspread, that was all right because it would keep them warm at night. But can you imagine if he saw her standing in a corner painting a landscape?"

Because society saw needlework as a functional domestic art and not a serious means of expression, Ms. Maines said women were able to weave their secret political and social views into their fabric.

One of her favorite stories involves the Secession Quilt, completed in 1850 in Yancy, S.C., by Mrs. P. D. Cook.

MRS. COOK'S husband was a Confederate soldier, and Yancy a typically militant southern town. Ms. Maines maintains the needlewoman really was a unionist.

"That quilt is full of standard symbols of federal union, like eagles and George Washington and grapes, the symbol for peace. I don't think she believed in secession at all. She really pulled the wool over his toes, though," Ms. Maines said.

"Every piece of needlework tells you something about the needlewoman," she said.

"Sometimes the stitches are loose and relaxed, sometimes they are very, very tiny and tight, conveying an anger or frustration that had no other outlet.

"For some women, everything they wanted to say in their life had to go into the needlework. They had no vote, no other means of expression," she said.

THE CENTER which Ms. Maines helped found is dedicated to establishing needlwork as a legitimate art form with a long and glorified past.

She and more than 30 other supporters have collected almost 800 needlework pieces, slides of other work and taped interviews with needlewomen.

As their collection grows, Ms. Maines hopes she and other needlework historians will be able to use this unexplored source to fill in many missing links in the history of the American woman.

"Needlwork is the only tangible history of women we have," said Ms. Maines.

1972 Wheeling High School graduates Kay Williams and Bruce Frystak were married Nov. 15 in St. Edna's Catholic Church in Arlington Heights.

Kay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Williams of Arlington Heights, chose for the double ring nuptial mass an ivory moire gown with beaded trim. A Juliet cap held her floor-length veil and she carried a cascade of white roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Lyn Lueders, Buffalo Grove, was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a dusty rose gown and carried a bouquet of white carnations and pink roses. Bridesmaids were Nancy Schumann and the bride's sister Sue, both from Arlington Heights, who were attired identically to Mrs. Lueders.

THE GROOM, SON of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Frystak of Arlington Heights, was attended by Mike Schuster, Arlington Heights as best man. Ushers were Bruce's brothers, Mark, Barry and Jeff, and Mike Williams, the bride's brother.

Following a dinner reception for 150 guests at Old Orchard Country Club, the newlyweds left on a week's honeymoon. They are making their home in Schaumburg.

Kay attended Northern Illinois University for a year and is employed by Sears at Woodfield. Bruce attends Harper College and works for Vance Industries, Harwood Heights.

Horse and buggy took newlyweds to reception

A horse and carriage carried Nora Catherine Furman and her bridegroom, David O. Hendrix, from their wedding in Long Grove Community Church to the reception at the Hobson House, on the other side of the Long Grove covered bridge.

The pair, who met on a blind date, were wed Nov. 15. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence S. Jenness of Arlington Heights, and the groom is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Olan Hendrix of Marion Station, Pa.

For the candlelight ceremony Nora chose an ivory organza gown trimmed in chantilly lace, featuring long, full sleeves and chapel train. She wore a shoulder-length veil of illusion and carried a nosegay of baby's breath and white Sweetheart roses.

NORA WAS ATTENDED by her sister, Maureen Furman, as maid of honor and her cousin, Julie Jenness, 10, as flower girl. Both girls were gowned in amber satin with ecru lace and carried bronze and gold mums.

Best man was the groom's brother, Richard, and the bride's brothers, Brian and Marc Furman.

Nora is a 1972 graduate of Arlington High School and has attended Harper College. She is employed by the Lincoln Property Co. of Mount Prospect. David is a senior at the University of Illinois, Circle Campus.

This recipe changed her mind on pie

Dear Dorothy: With the holidays just around the corner, would appreciate a recipe for a large, delicious, moist fruitcake. I'm also hoping you have one for an exceptional pumpkin pie. Love your recipes. Must say I'm one of your greatest fans.—Mrs. Gene McGarrigle.

Confession: I've never cared for fruitcake so have never sought out a recipe. Surprisingly, no one has ever sent one in. Pumpkin pie was in the same category, although I've made many for the family. My attitude changed when I had some of Henrietta Weiss' pie — even to asking for seconds.

You use an unbaked pie crust in

You use an unbaked pie crust in gredients, gently mixed: Two cups canned pumpkin, one cup sugar, one-half cup milk, three lightly beaten eggs, one-fourth cup brandy, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon nutmeg, one-half teaspoon ginger, one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon ground cloves and one cup heavy cream. Bake 10 minutes at 450 degrees, then reduce heat to 300 and bake 45 to 50 minutes longer. Top with sweetened whipped cream. For my taste, delectable!

Dear Dorothy: A guest spilled a drink which had some lemon in it on my marble coffee table. That spot is now dull. Is there any way to restore the finish?—Roberta Hawkins

Lemon does that to marble. If it's just dull and not stained, wet the surface with clear water and sprinkle on some tin oxide powder. Keep rubbing with a damp cloth until the marble surface shines.

Dear Dorothy: Is there a way to get apart a bunch of stamps that got wet and are stuck together?—Marietta Moorman.

There probably are other ways, but I pour boiling water into a clean coffee can, pour it out so that the can is clean, dry and hot. In go the stamps and they separate in seconds with no effort.

Numerous pot bellies these days

The doctor says
by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Why do so many people, young and old, men and women, have protruding stomachs nowadays?

I'm over 60 and have rheumatoid arthritis. My feet, legs, and knees have become very painful to use, hence my exercise is limited. Until I acquired arthritis some years ago, I had a very flat stomach. Now it protrudes — feels swollen.

I know this is due in part to massive doses of aspirin and 10 milligrams of Prednisone daily. Can you recommend an exercise to fit my ability and that would help my stomach problems.

You see many bulging abdomens these days because people eat too much, exercise too little and have few, if any activities that help maintain the strength of the abdominal muscles.

The person in good health who wants to avoid this problem, or correct it, can get information on how to do it by sending 50 cents for The Health Letter, number 3-7, Girth Control: Avoiding The Big Middle, with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to me in care of Suburban Living, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y., 10019. This issue will give you information on exercises you can use to help avoid this problem.

REGARDLESS of the exercise program you use, if your abdomen is stuffed with at you can't significantly decrease its size. The task is like trying to compress a plastic bag full of water into a smaller volume. It just won't happen. There is usually about as much fat inside the abdomen as there is outside. As you eliminate body fat from the outside you are also eliminating some packed inside your abdominal cavity.

A successful campaign to win the battle of the bulge includes both an exercise program directed toward your trunk muscles, and a proper diet program. Good posture helps, also.

Your problem is different because of your rheumatoid arthritis. Incidentally, those who want information on rheumatoid arthritis can follow the same procedure I mentioned for the information on the big middle, only ask for The Health Letter, number 4-11, Rheumatoid Arthritis. Your abdomen is distended with fluid from your medicines. Prednisone and other cortisone medicines tend to cause abdominal obesity.

BECAUSE OF the complications of cortisone medicines, they are used only in selected cases. I can't say whether your case required cortisone or not, but as long as you are under the care of a specialist in rheumatoid arthritis, he can guide you to the best current therapy.

I am not hopeful that exercise will help reduce your abdomen any more than it will a person who has abdominal obesity which is not corrected. You may get some advantage by strengthening your abdominal muscles to a limited degree. You can practice tightening and relaxing your abdominal muscles while lying down, while sitting or even while standing. Repeated contractions will help you maintain the strength of your muscles. Don't overdo it at the start.

Depending on the status of your hips and general health, you might also be able to do situps or leglifts. These two types of exercise are the ones most commonly used to strengthen the abdomen.

Choose-A-Child campaign aids needy

Some needy children living in the local area and others in the inner city of Chicago will have a happier Christmas due to the combined efforts of the Junior Woman's Club of Des Plaines and the Juniorettes, the teenage auxiliary of the Juniors.

This holiday season, as in the past five, the two groups are displaying Choose-A-Child posters around Des Plaines, accompanied by tags denoting the sex and age of needy children who may be chosen by the public to provide gifts for Christmas. Any individuals or groups wishing to help Santa may take a tag, purchase and wrap a gift of from $3 to $6, attach the tag and return the gift to the location where the tag was selected. The posters and tags will be available until Dec. 18.

THE GIFTS WILL then be distributed locally through Operation Breadbasket and in the inner city through the American Indian Center. Tags may be chosen at the following locations: Des Plaines Civic Center (City Hall); First National Bank of Mount Prospect (Randhurst Center); The Des Plaines Public Library; Eidamiller Realty, 690 Lee St.; Gladstone Realty, Lee and Algonquin; Kole Realty, 1513 Miner St.; Baird and Warner, 716 Lee St.; National Grocery Store, Lee and Algonquin; Maple Pharmacy, Maple and Oakton Streets; and Minnesota Fabric Store, Market Place Shopping Center, Golf and Elmhurst Roads.

As an example of group participation, High Ridge Knolls PTA is again conducting a mitten collection and displaying the gifts on a mitten tree. The mittens will later be distributed with the other gifts to needy children.

Any club, organization or business wishing to help may contact Betty Walters at 824-8247.

Christmas luminaria kits go on sale

The age-old custom from Mexico of glowing luminaria lining the walks and driveways during Christmas Eve has been adopted in the United States and is growing in popularity with each holiday season.

The luminaria is simply a plumber's candle inside a brown paper bag with enough sand to hold the candle erect. With many of these lighted and placed no further apart than 10 feet in a single row to outline the walk and drive at individual homes, the sight is breathtaking to those outdoors in the area on Chrstmas Eve. Mass lighting begins at 6 p.m. or, in case of bad weather, at 6 p.m. Christmas night.

SEVERAL ORGANIZATIONS are selling luminaria kits this season. Mount Prospect Junior Woman's Club will have them available at six for $1 Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the local community center, 600 S. See-Gwun.

Palatine Center of Infant Welfare will be selling kits of five for $1 Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in front of Nelson's BoKay Shoppe, 145 S. Bothwell, Palatine.

Sponsoring groups ask that those buying in quantity bring their own containers for sand. One wastebasket-size bucket holds enough sand for 15 candles. Those wishing to order 200 or more candles ($15) should call Mrs. Dennis Gobel of Infant Welfare at 325-5829.

ELK GROVE Village Junior Woman's Club held its sale last weekend but some kits are still available. Selling at six for $1.25, they may be ordered from Norma Anderson, 529-6851, until Dec. 17.

All of the sales are fund-raising projects to help the groups finance their particular philanthropies.

ORT selling books for entertainment

"Entertainment '76," a coupon book featuring shows, restaurants, theaters and sports events all over Chicago and the Northwest suburbs, is being sold by Twin Acres Chapter, Women's American ORT, as a fund-raiser.

Proceeds will go toward the social assistance program providing food, clothing and shelter to ORT students around the world.
